Washington —(CPA)—The Butler episode has passed into history with everybody satisfied. General Butler has been publicly censured and there are to be no embarrassing moments such as a public trial might have produced for all the parties involved. The incident appears to have been the result of a series of misunderstandings all around. When General Butler made his speech in Philadelphia he thought he was talking to a private gathering. He had been assured that it was not a public affair. But even remarks made at a private dinner became embarrassing to the American government if made public.

When the Italian Ambassador presented his demand, the department of state promptly expressed regret and issued an apology. Contrary to the general impression, President Hoover did not order the court martial. He did, however, direct the secretary of the navy to take cognizance of the incident, and handle it as he deemed best, in the interests of discipline. It was therefore within the discretion of the secretary of the navy to dissolve the court martial if, he thought the purposes of discipline could be met otherwise.

Fearful Fascist Dispute
Several days ago it became evident that the Italian government was determined to force the issue. The Italian government might afford an opportunity for publicity to the enemies of Premier Mussolini in this country. Even though the court martial might have ruled out such testimony and confined itself to the question of the discipline involved, there was no way of preventing open letters from being sent to the court and other public statements being issued, bearing on the case.

So far as the Italian government was concerned the affair was ended when Premier Mussolini sent word that the incident already "had been forgotten." This was interpreted to mean that the apology was satisfactory or that the Italian government did not intend to be placed in the position of insisting on punishment for so gallant an officer as General Butler.

The dismissal of the court martial was made possible through the evidence brought forward in General Butler's letter to the effect that he did not deliberately and publicly give affront, but that he admitted that in his private remarks he had been indiscreet. He also stated his regret that he had been the cause of embarrassment to his government. This is in the nature of a public retraction and was deemed satisfactory by navy department officials.

The matter stands now. General Butler does not suffer the punishment of a court martial verdict and a formal reprimand but at the same time he is given to understand that his conduct was not approved. It will set an example of course to other officers of the army and navy and have a salutary effect on speech making. Thus ends one of the most awkward situations that has arisen in the navy in recent years, and everybody is happy including the Italian officials who by no means were anxious to see any more made of the event than the formal exchanges of a week ago.

RECORD EARTH SHOCK

Washington —(AP)—An earthquake was recorded at the Georgetown university seismological observatory today beginning at 1:54 a. m., with maximum disturbance at about 2 o'clock a. m. and ending at 3 o'clock a. m. It was estimated to have been centered about 10,000 miles from Washington.

New York —(AP)—Ralph T. O'Neill, national commander of the American Legion, was reported "doing very nicely" today at the Pennsylvania hotel where he is recovering from bronchial pneumonia.

Resolutions
Against Dry
Law Win O.K.

Madison —(AP)—With no dissent, the state senate today adopted three resolutions aimed at the federal prohibition law. They now go to the assembly.

The resolutions were introduced by three Milwaukee senators, Thomas M. Duncan, Socialist; Leonard C. Pons and Bernhard Gettelman, both Republicans.

Sen. Duncan would have the congress conduct a national prohibition referendum at which voters would answer:

"Shall the policy of prohibition be abandoned?"

"Shall the Volstead act be amended to allow the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer?"

Based on the premise that nearly 2,000,000 men would receive employment as well as aiding the farmer through increased grain sales, the resolution by Senator Pons asks congress "to relieve the present depression and to bring work and business to millions by modifying the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine."

Senator Gettelman based his resolution on the Wickham report and asks congress to repeal or modify immediately the eighteenth amendment.

69 FEARED LOST AFTER
TWO STEAMERS COLLIDE

Tokio —(AP)—Sixty-nine persons were feared lost today in a collision between the French steamer Porthos and the Japanese Kikusui Maru in the Pacific. The Japanese vessel sank yesterday. The Japanese vessel sank quickly and the Porthos, after picking up 25 of her complement, returned to port with small damage.

THIERMANN LEAVES

Milwaukee —(AP)—An estate of $1,000,000 was left to his widow by the will of Max L. Thiermann, real estate dealer, who leaped to his death from the eighth floor of a building here.

Curtius Says Debt Question
Chief Foe Of World Peace

Berlin —(AP)—Reminding the world that Germany never guaranteed her ability to fulfill the Young plan, Julius Curtius, the foreign minister, today told the Reichstag that the nation is determined nevertheless to live up to its provisions as long as possible and to try to change it only by legal means.

In his first appearance before the parliament since he returned from the league of nations discussions at Geneva he outlined in detail the German foreign policy and described the world disarmament conference called for next February as the "touchstone of the efficacy of the league of nations."

He dealt upon improvement in Franco-German relations as a pivot of the problem of European states, at the same time emphasizing that Germany will not be shored to one side.

"The reparations question," he said, "forces itself as an undeniable guest into all internal gatherings."

REPORT ASKED
ON UTILITIES
OF WISCONSINResolution Asks Railroad Commission to Give
Data on Ownership

Madison —(AP)—A joint resolution directing the state railroad commission to submit a report showing the utility properties in Wisconsin which are controlled by the North American, Inland and Billeby groups, was introduced in the assembly today by Assemblyman Moulton B. Goff, Sturgeon Bay.

The resolution states that the "three companies" control somewhere in the neighborhood of 80 per cent of the total utility business in the state.

The resolution also asks the names of all companies controlled by these groups and in each case the holding companies which controlled these companies and any holding companies controlling holding companies, and presenting all known facts regarding the intercompany and other interlocking arrangements which effect the public utility properties of these groups in Wisconsin.

The instructions to the commission state that if definite facts upon these points are not known the commission should so state in its report.

Measures having a direct bearing on emergency relief were introduced in the assembly. A bill by Edward P. Hiler, Racine, provides that the governor, with the advice of the senate, appoint an emergency commission for unemployment relief, whose chief function will be to promote the program of railroad crossing elimination. The commission would have five members who would make all arrangements deemed necessary and expedient in carrying out this project. It would have exclusive authority, including awarding of contracts. An appropriation would be provided for the commission through an additional gasoline tax of one cent levied during the six months from April 1 to Sept. 30, 1931.

A bill by James H. Jensen, Grantsburg, extends the benefits of the soldiers educational bonus act four years. Under the present statutes these would be denied after the present year.

A referendum vote on the question of increasing the state gasoline tax was asked in a joint resolution by Allen J. Busby, Milwaukee, while a joint resolution by Arthur Hilt, Alameda, memorializes congress to enact legislation specifically authorizing the states to tax royalties on patents and copyrights in the same manner as other income is taxed.

ACCUSE 2 YOUTHS OF
LOOTING MAIL COACH

Holland, Mich. —(AP)—Two young men were held here today charged with rifling a mail coach of a Muskegon bound Pere Marquette train yesterday. They gave their names as Ralph Martin, 22, and Eugene J. Holland, 22, of Chicago.

The pair, federal officers said, confessed to looting 23 mail pouches and 24 express packages after breaking into the mail coach. Entrance to the coach was gained while they were stealing a ride on the train. How much loot was obtained the officers have been unable to learn.

YIELDS FORTUNE TO

Chicago —(AP)—The Herald and Examiner said today that Peter Meyn, often referred to as one of the greatest fortune tellers, would voluntarily turn over his fortune to save depositors and stockholders from loss in the closing of the First Trust & Savings bank at Hammond, Ind. Meyn is president of the institution.

ASK DISBARMENT QUIZ
FOR SHAWANO LAWYER

Madison —(AP)—The state board of law commissioners today petitioned the supreme court to conduct proceedings against A. M. Andrews, Shawano attorney, on charges of professional misconduct.

The board, composed of Attorneys F. M. White, River Falls; R. M. Reiser, Madison; Edward J. Dempsey, Oshkosh; T. W. Brazee, Wisconsin Rapids; and J. O. Carley, Milwaukee, asked that Andrews, if found guilty of the charges, be disbarred from the practice of law.

Attorney Andrews is charged with misappropriating money in four cases in which he acted as counsel.

Bears Again
Beaten Back
On Exchange

New York —(AP)—Bears continued to pay dearly for their excessive gloom in today's stock market, as the full forces pressed on to new high levels for 1931 for the third successive day.

There was a pause for breath during the morning, following a half hour of the most furious trading witnessed in weeks right after the market opened, but the advances were resumed by midday, and a report by the United States Steel Corp., showing a large gain in new business in January provided fresh stimulus to bullish enthusiasm.

A handful of stocks in which there is a limited supply for trading purposes fluctuated violently. Auburn Auto shot up $16.50 a share to $191, which is almost double its January low of $101.50. It then lost half its gain temporarily, but soon recovered. The spotlight was next turned on J. I. Case, which soared $10 a share. Industrial Rayon gained about as much.

U. S. Steel sold up $3 to $145.20, the best price of 1931, and other prominent shares making similar advances included New York Central, Westinghouse Electric, Union Pacific, North American, Republic Steel, Atchison, and New Haven. The rail shares, which failed to participate notably yesterday, came forward today.

Other Advances
Wider advances, ranging from $3 to $5 were recorded by Eastman, Coca Cola, Jewel Tea, United Aircraft, Vanadium, Johns Manville, and Republic Steel Preferred.

There was a marked slackening in the volume of trading after the first half-hour, in which $60,000 shares changed hands. In the next hour and a half, the turnover was only 1,100,000 shares, and by midday, the volume of transfers was only a little ahead of the total at the same time yesterday.

The $16.50 jump in Auburn, on top of yesterday's gain of $18.75, was in part a response to the report of the company's increased sales and output, but the issue has long been a favorite of traders who like excitement. In 1929 it ranged from $120 to $314 a share. It has outstanding less than 10,000 shares, much of which is closely held and not available for trading purposes.

CAN'T ELECT ALDERMEN
AS COMMISSION ENDS

Madison —(AP)—A Chippewa Falls ordinance calling for the abatement of the commission form of government was held valid by the supreme court today but that part which called for a special election was ruled invalid.

Various city officials challenged the validity of the ordinance on the ground that it was not properly designated "charter ordinance" and that an election could not be held during their tenure of office.

The supreme court held that the ordinance was properly designated but that the section calling for a special election of aldermen—provided by the new form of government—before the terms of the city officials ended was invalid. The court held that "there is no officer under the statutes vested with the duty of calling a special election in this situation and the provisions of the charter ordinance imparts this duty specifically on no one."

YOUTH ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Minneapolis —(AP)—A jury last night acquitted John Hart, 22, Minneapolis, of a charge of first degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Charles W. Brown, 69, Milwaukee salesman. Brown died several hours after a beating he received from a "panhandler" here. Hart said he struck Brown but once, and in self-defense. The jury deliberated nearly seven hours.

Dolly And Alice Laugh As Reporters Bury Hatchet

Washington —(AP)—There was a funeral here last night at which the spectators, dozens of ladies all, laughed loud and long. Even Alice Langworth, 39, and Dolly Gann, 37, gave way to mirth.

A solemn cortege, wearing deep mourning, was carrying a black casket to its resting place when the first plumes broke through the sombre robes of a funeral dirge. The box was placed under a leadstone bearing the simple epitaph:

"Hello, Dolly! Hello, Alice!"

It contained a hatchet—the hatchet of the capital's famous Gann-Langworth feud over social precedence. The funeral was conducted by the National Women's Press club. The two principals sat at the same table, guests of honor at the newspaperwomen's merry-making.

ON PROBATION
FOR REMAINDER
OF FIVE YEARSClara Bow's Former Secretary
Need Not Serve
Penitentiary Sentence

Los Angeles —(AP)—Daisy DeBoe, former secretary of Clara Bow, film actress, was granted probation from a prison term by Judge William Doran today but she must spend 18 months in the county jail.

The remainder of a five year period she will be at liberty under supervision of the county probation officer.

The court's decision was prefaced by a request from Miss DeBoe's counsel that she be permitted to withdraw her application for probation made on Feb. 2 following her conviction nearly three weeks ago on charges of stealing $325 from Miss Bow.

Miss DeBoe stood firmly and gazed attentively at Judge Doran as he quietly announced his decision. After the court had told her she would not have to serve a possible prison term of one to ten years, she looked at her attorney William Beirne, for an instant and then apparently resigning herself to the court's judgment she walked from the court room to begin her term in the county jail. No attempt was made to appeal the motion for a new trial, denied a week ago.

One of the largest throngs seen during the DeBoe case was attracted to the courthouse.

Lectured by Judge Doran today to his decision, Judge Doran told Miss DeBoe, "You conducted systematic raids on the funds of Miss Bow for some length of time."

The original charges against the former secretary accused her of stealing $16,000 from the actress over a period of nearly a year and a half.

"You were given a good position at a substantial salary and entrusted with funds," Judge Doran said. "You not only committed embezzlement but you were guilty of a breach of trust. There are no extenuating circumstances in connection with your offense."

"The jury was quite generous with you. Their verdict found you guilty of only one of the 37 counts of grand theft charged against you. The evidence was sufficient to support a conviction on all counts."

"You were ably represented and all of your rights protected; you had a fair and impartial trial."

"I think probably the proper disposition of your case is—" Judge Doran leaned back and hesitated. Miss DeBoe waited with perfect calmness for the decision.

"I do not think, however, that it would be proper to incarcerate you in the penitentiary," Judge Doran resumed. "I do think, however, that some substantial incarceration is required."

The young woman and her attorney looked with a show of relief at one another. "You never have been in trouble before but your case should be made an example for others," the sentence was given and Miss DeBoe walked out of the court room and back to her jail cell.

County Red Cross Quota
Less Than Half Subscribed

The nation as a whole has subscribed something over $7,000,000 toward the $10,000,000 quota for relief of the drought areas, but Outagamie county still is far from subscribing half of its quota of $1,000. Up until this morning contributions aggregated only about $350, and the national headquarters is asking that the money be sent in as rapidly as received.

While Outagamie county is lagging, Neenah has more than doubled its quota and still is going strong. Oshkosh, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac also are making excellent progress.

The Red Cross now is meeting food and clothing needs of families in 735 counties in 20 states in the drought area. These states are all along the southern part of the United States and include also Montana and the Dakotas. There are 33 counties in Ohio requiring some measure of help. TWO WOMEN SLAIN
IN SALOON HOLDUP

St. Louis —(AP)—Two women were shot to death early today as three gunmen shot up a N. Taylor-ave. saloon.

The dead were identified as Bessie Lynam, 30, and Dorothy Evans, 37. William Goebel, said by police to be a brother of the late Dewey Goebel, notorious gangster who was slain several months ago, was wounded critically and was expected to die.

Goebel's brother, Harry Goebel, bartender in the saloon, said the three gunmen entered the saloon, shouting "stick 'em up." William Goebel and the two women, who were sitting in an ante-room, were slow in obeying the command, and the three men started firing. A moment later they fled from the smoke-filled place.

BULLETIN

Chicago —(AP)—Attorney Edward O. Higgins, attorney for Mayor William Hale Thompson, announced in a statement from the mayor's office today that he had filed suit for $100,000 damages against Judge John H. Lyle based on statements in Lyle's mayoralty campaign speech last night.

Higgins said Lyle, who is contesting the mayor's attempt to seek the Republican nomination in the primaries Feb. 24, charged Thompson with misuse and misappropriation of public funds and had challenged Thompson to sue him. He said the mayor "accepted the challenge for the purpose of giving Lyle an opportunity to prove the truth of these charges, which he knows well he cannot do."

WITNESS DRUNK AS HE BEGINS HIS TESTIMONY

Milwaukee —(AP)—A probe into the Milwaukee-co department of outdoor relief was halted abruptly last night when Ray Wittig, a witness, was ordered from the witness stand on charges of being intoxicated.

Wittig was the author of the statement that an employee of the department misappropriated funds and took money to promote the sale of a song written by Wittig. Called to the stand, he was being examined by a physician when his incoherence became obvious. The doctor said he was intoxicated. Wittig was jailed on a disorderly charge.

"Thousands Upon Thousands" Unable to Offer

Washington —(AP)—The drought loan agreement on relief legislation was attacked in the senate today by Senator LaFollette as an "unconditional surrender" by the senate coalition.

"It is not a compromise," he contended, as the second day of debate opened. The Wisconsin Republican spoke in reply to Democratic Leader Robinson, who was called for adoption of the $20,000,000 loan fund to speed some manner of additional relief to the drought stricken states.

"It is perfectly obvious," said LaFollette, "that the terms of this legislation provide only for extending relief to those in a position to give security."

TWO GANGSTERS ARE HELD AS KIDNAPERS

Accused of Abducting
Wealthy Sportsman
and Wife, Obtaining $50,000

Los Angeles —(AP)—Two men trapped by a former Chicago policeman, were held here today as participants in the recent kidnaping of E. L. (Zeke) Carless, wealthy sportsman, and his wife.

Baron Fitts, district attorney, said the men were Louis Franks, 45, alleged run runner, and Ray Wagner, 38, St. Louis' gangster.

The two were arrested late Saturday night in a Phoenix, Ariz., cottage on a tip by Ed Fox, ex-policeman, now in Phoenix for his health.

Wagner, said to have been shot by Long Beach, Calif., officers in a gun battle while he and others were on their way to a gambling barge to cash Carless' check for $50,000, was reported to be dying in an outlying hospital. Both he and Franks refused to talk.

Police assert Ralph Sheldon, former aide to Al Capone of Chicago also was a member of the gang. Sheldon is held in lieu of $100,000 bail. Fitts said Franks and the wounded Wagner had been living in Phoenix the last 10 days in a house owned by Henry "Dutch" Reese, formerly of Chicago at which Fox was a frequent visitor.

DYNAMITE BOMB RIPS
HOLE THROUGH PLANT

Chicago —(AP)—A dynamite bomb, exploding with terrific force, ripped a large hole in the foundation of the south side eight-story printing plant of the R. R. Donnelley and Sons last night, throwing 400 employees into a panic.

Leo Poppel, superintendent, estimated the damage at $5,000. Windows from the first to the seventh floor, and in rooming houses on the opposite side of the street, were shattered. One employee was injured by broken glass.

The police said they were unable to uncover a definite motive. The plant, known as the Lakeside Press, is operated on a non-union basis. It is one of the largest of its kind in the United States.

The bombing was the fourth directed against large buildings in recent weeks. The others were the Merchants Mart, the Furniture Mart and the warehouses of the Sears Roebuck company.

COMMUNISTS PARADE
IN EASTERN CITIES

Communist demonstrations for unemployment insurance and relief for jobs were staged simultaneously today in New York, Boston, Washington and Hartford, Conn.

Police dispersed the demonstrators on Boston Common, arresting twelve persons, two of them charged with rioting. One of the demonstrators was run down by a policeman's horse.

In New York 2,000 persons assembled in Union-square, remained orderly under police guard.

A delegation called on Gov. William L. Cross of Connecticut in Hartford, with relief requests and in Washington a group of Communists was admitted to the house galleries after it had been refused access to the floor of that body.

Pinchot Demands Investigation Of Public Service Commission

ALSO DEMANDS CLEANUP FOR STATE POLLS

Unemployment Relief and Better Roads Urged by Penn Governor

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today asked a joint session of the general assembly to enact legislation providing for a thorough investigation of the public service commission, clean elections, unemployment relief and a better system of rural roads.

In his third message to the present legislature, the governor repeated his former statements against the utilities and the public service commission and asked for an investigation of the commission and an equal representation of the board inquiry with each of the two branches of the general assembly.

Asserting that fraudulent elections destroy the right of a free people to govern themselves, he launched an attack on the "corrupt political machine" which he said had made the city of Philadelphia "more notorious" than any other city in America for election frauds.

Of unemployment, the governor, basing his remarks on the report of the Pennsylvania unemployment committee appointed by him prior to last fall's election, said most of the recommendations of this committee were being carried out. He cited his budget recommendations of building projects and urged a temporary loan of $10,000,000 from the general fund to the highway fund for road building.

Unemployment Plans
He urged passage of legislation to prevent unemployment in the future and recommended enactment of an old age pension act and a measure to relieve small inheritances from any state tax.

"I do not recommend," the governor said, "that the commonwealth shall appropriate money to provide food, clothing and shelter for the victims of unemployment. In the first place, $140,000,000 or 40 per cent of the budget, had already been recommended for work available for unemployment relief. In the second place, the state cannot borrow without a constitutional amendment. Finally, other more desirable plans now under consideration or in effect appear to offer means of relief. But I point out that we cannot let people go hungry in Pennsylvania."

Discussing public utilities and the proposed investigation of them and the public service commission, he said:

"The public utility question, not only in Pennsylvania, but throughout the nation, is not merely a question of rates and service. The unrestrained political interference of the utilities has made it a question of who shall rule. The very right of the people to govern themselves is at stake. No greater question can ever confront a democracy."

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS SENT TO JAIL

Chooses Term of Six Months
When He Is Unable to Pay
Fine of $100

Edward Heinzel, 715 W. Oklahoma-st., was given a choice of paying a fine of $100 and costs or spending six months in the county jail, when he pleaded guilty this morning in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg of drunken driving. The judge could not order Heinzel's driving license revoked because he has no license. He was jailed last September for 60 days on a charge of drunken driving and at that time his license was revoked.

Gordon Calnin, 510 S. State-st., who was with Heinzel when he was arrested Sunday night, was fined $10 and costs or sentenced to 5 days in the county jail. Both men chose the jail sentences. They pleaded not guilty Monday morning, but they came into court this morning and changed their pleas.

The two were arrested about 11:45 Sunday night when the car Heinzel was driving collided with a machine driven by William Goese, 925 Roosevelt-st., Kaukauna, on the S. Oneida-st. bridge. The front ends of both cars were damaged and Goese suffered a slight cut on the head. Officers Albert Deltzen and Adna Thomack arrested the two men.

JAPAN IS NOT SEEKING WAR, CLUB ADVISED

Country Working for International Accord
Speaker Declares

Expressing assurance that neither Japan nor the United States is contemplating war, M. T. Yamamoto, American press correspondent for the Japanese Times and Mail, showed the Lions club at their weekly meeting at Conway hotel Monday afternoon how commercial intercourse between these two countries is building up one of the strongest foundations for international peace.

Economic interdependence, developing between the United States and Japan a mutual trust and friendship, the speaker stated, has been the underlying factor in preserving peace on the Pacific.

The speaker expressed the belief that most men favor peace not because they are cowardly, but because they know that peace, not war, is just and right. He said he was convinced that a nation's interests can best be preserved by pursuing a policy of international accord rather than one of selfish aggression.

"Japan is attempting to do its part in bringing about international accord by teaching peace in the home, school, church, business and government," he said.

"She has revised her text books to harmonize with the spirit of the age, has released thousands of men from the army and navy and has scrapped many old war ships."

The speaker said he was confident that the better understanding between the United States and Japan was one of the direct results of the Washington conference in 1921-22.

In discussing the exclusion act adopted by the United States in 1924, Mr. Yamamoto said that his country was not hurt by the act itself, but by the methods used in enforcing it.

He also stated that Japan has come to understand America's immigration problem and lives in the hope that some day Japanese immigration will be controlled by a means satisfactory to both nations.

3 Of Family Are Victims Of Poison

Brownwood, Texas (P)—H. A. Jones, 40, a tenant farmer, died today, the third member of a family of seven to succumb from eating poisoned bread—the last food in the house—at breakfast yesterday.

Jones had been out of work recently and the family's store of food reached the vanishing point yesterday morning.

Authorities were attempting to determine who was responsible for putting the poison in the home-made bread.

An empty baking powder can, contents of which, it was believed had been used in preparing the bread, was found on a road which Jones traveled to a neighbor's house in summoning aid after the family had been stricken. The lid of the can was in a mud hole nearby. Dr. C. W. Gray, county health officer, said the bread contained a deadly poison.

Power Co. COKE

Less Ash

NUMBER 5

Ashes piling up on the floor of the ash-pit! Heaps and heaps of ashes to be loaded into cans and carted away every day or so! An excess of ash under your furnace grate is a danger signal . . . a sign that you are not getting the heat you've paid for. For ash does not produce heat . . . it is the waste matter in every fuel. And too much waste matter means inferior fuel, fuel that fails to keep its promise.

Hundreds of families in Appleton this winter are discovering a way to combat those tell-tale signs of fuel wastage. They used Power Co. Coke . . . the coal with less ash. You, too, will find that your fuel dollar will go farther if you use Power Co. Coke. You will find that a furnace full of Power Co. Coke means a house full of heat, without wasted money.

FEW CHANGES IN COLLECTION OF CITY GARBAGE

Present System to Continue With One or Two Alterations

Few changes in the present garbage collection ordinance will be necessary under the new ordinance proposed by the city council at its last meeting. Outside of amendments governing the frequency of collection and the maximum charge to the patron, the ordinance now on the books covers all phases of the matter as it will be handled by the city until the treasury is in a sufficiently healthy state to permit the city to take over the collection and disposal of garbage.

At the next meeting of the common council the city attorney will be instructed to draw up amendments authorizing the collection of garbage at least twice a week during the months from May to October, and once a week the remainder of the year, and specifying 30 cents a month as the outside price for collection. These amendments will be turned over to the ordinance committee for publication at one of the March meetings, and by April 1 it is expected that the revised ordinance will go into effect.

Garbage collectors now operating in the city have already been instructed to secure licenses and abide by the regulations of the ordinance now governing this phase of public health. The ordinance prescribes a license fee of $5 and regulation covered tanks or wagons so constructed that they will neither leak or spill. The wagons or containers are to be as clean and free from offensive odors as possible, and are not to be kept in any street or alley longer than necessary to collect garbage.

Requires Metal Cans
The section of the ordinance governing the householder requires that garbage be kept in metal cans, tanks or containers with a capacity of not more than 10 gallons, with handles and tight-fitting covers, and prohibits placing tin cans, wire, metal, glass, china, crockery, wood, coarse rubbish, cloth, stone or earth in the garbage cans. The garbage is to be drained before being deposited in the cans and is to be removed once a week by a licensed garbage collector.

The penalty for offenders is a fine from $2 to $10 or confinement in the county jail from three to 10 days. The ordinance controlling rubbish removal which now specifies an annual cleanup day on the first Monday in May will have to be changed to provide six or more such collections, if the report of the hog-fencing committee, adopted at the last meeting of the council, is followed in its entirety.

All garbage and rubbish collections are under the control of the board of health.

Faculty Tries To Spur Art Appreciation At School

Five new artistic pictures, together with 19 others which have been collected during the last few years, represent a long-dreamed project of the Appleton high school faculty.

It is the purpose of the high school faculty, initiated by Herbert Hebble, principal to bring artistic value to the classroom and good art to the students. Each of these pictures will be hung for a week in the main hall so that the student may study it. The Talsman, student newspaper, is cooperating by publishing the history of the picture on display.

The history room is most indicative of the sort of thing the school is accomplishing. The three pictures in the room portray epochs in American history from the early days of Indian life through the settling of the great northwest territory and the trekking across the Santa Fe country. The last is the subject of one of the new pictures in color, "The Santa Fe Trail," by Hunter. Amick is the artist of the others, "The Oregon Trail," "The Pueblo Indian" and "Indian Rugweavers."

Two French etchings by Le Comte, depicting French provincial landscapes, will be subjects for the English and French rooms. These two new etchings are in color stressing the dark tones of the scenes; they are "The Bridge" and "The Mill." "Amalfi" and "The Venetian Fishing Fleet" depict the vividness of Constantin Gorbatoff, a contemporary Russian artist, who indulges in water scenes and brighter colors. These pictures, will have a utilitarian value as well as an artistic appeal when they are placed in some of the darker high school rooms. The library has two historical figures and a landscape in "The Laughing Cavalier" by Frans Hals, "King Lear" by Abbey, and "October Days," Vincent. "Romance" by Schier, German artist, is an appropriate subject for the speech room. Miss McKenna, speech teacher, chose this subject for her room.

The other pictures include: "Avonue of Trees" by Hobbema; "Merchant of Gize," Holbein; "The Lifting Fog," Vincent; "Infanta Margarita," Velasquez; "A Landscape with Cypressess," Van Gogh; "The Craftsman," Amick; "At Katwyk, Holland," Ritschel; "The Fairies Court," Woodward; "Treasures of the Orient," Teeg; "Aspen Grove," Dorn; "Sunny Winter," Schreyer.

These pictures are purchased through a school activities fund. Each picture carries a small bronze plate at one corner, on which is the name of the picture, its author, and the date of its acquisition.

SOPHOMORES DANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL PARTY

Two hundred and fifty couples attended the sophomore class Valentine party Saturday night at Appleton high school. Miss Helen Cohen was in charge of the party.

PICK STAFF FOR PRODUCTION AT CHILD THEATRE

Paul Koselka Is Stage Manager—Miss Olga Smith Scene Designer

The production staff for "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which will be presented by the Children's theatre for the children of Appleton and the Fox river valley on St. Valentine's day at the Lawrence chapel, has been announced by Mrs. F. T. Cloak, director of the theatre. Paul Koselka, who has been in charge of several Lawrence Sunset productions, will act as stage manager, and Miss Olga Smith, instructor in botany at Lawrence, will be in charge of the scene designing. Miss Smith has studied modern methods of stage lighting and scene designing and has had experience with several college plays.

Costumes for the play are being planned and designed by a committee of seven women consisting of Mrs. Selma Abendroth, Mrs. Frank Hammar, Mrs. W. S. Ryan, Miss Nellie Chamberlain, Miss Ruth Taylor, Miss Pearl Lindal and Miss Pauline Berloski. The costumes, which will follow the graceful medieval styles, will be kept in the fairy tale atmosphere which children expect. Miss Elsie Acherman has been appointed property manager. She will be responsible for the props for the entire play and will work in cooperation with the stage manager and scene designers.

CENTRAL-VEREIN TO CONVENE NEXT JUNE

The annual convention of the Catholic Central-Verein of Wisconsin will be held at Burlington in June. The most Rev. S. A. Stritch, archbishop of Milwaukee, and spiritual director of the state Central Verein, will be present, and it is expected that there will be at least 350 delegates. Burlington is making preparations to entertain about 1,000 visitors in addition to the delegates.

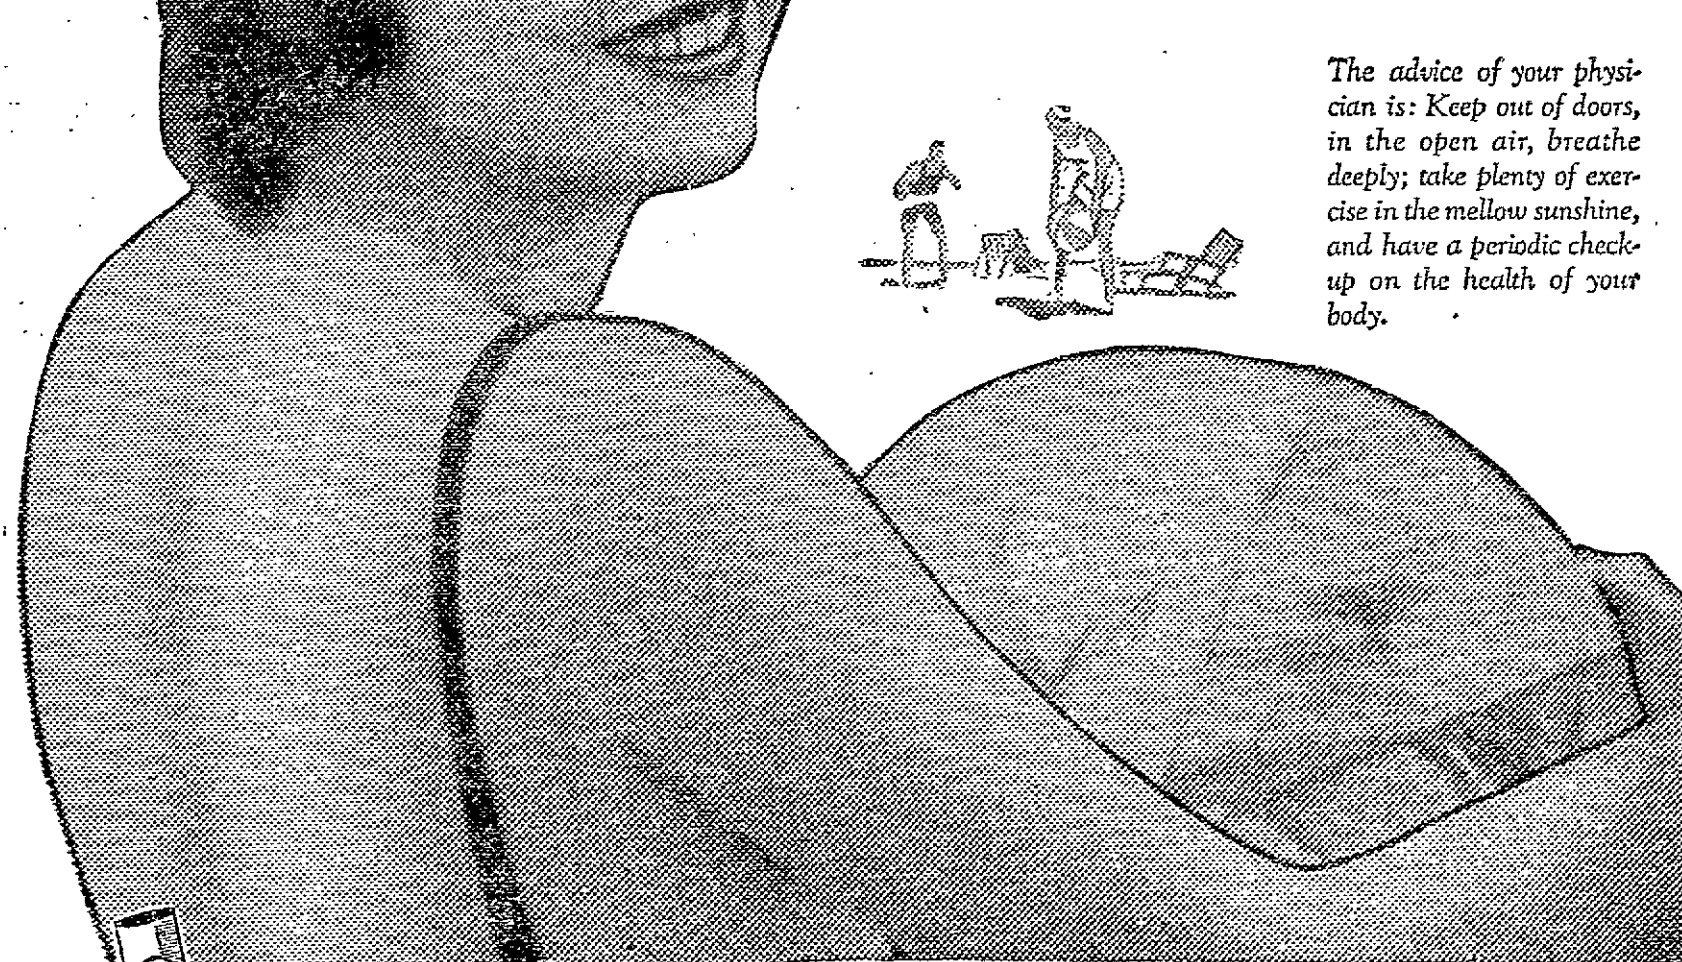

Make-up work will be under the direction of Margaret Heckle, assistant director and prompter of the play. Miss Heckle has had several years experience in this sort of work at Lawrence and directed and produced several freshman plays at the college this year.

The play, which will be presented at 2:30 next Saturday afternoon at Lawrence chapel, is the first of a series to be produced by the Children's theatre for the children of Appleton. This is the first attempt in many years to provide for local kiddies a class of entertainment which especially appeals to their imagination, and if given the necessary support by Appleton citizens, the Children's theatre will provide a series of appealing and fascinating plays for the youngsters.

Sen. Schall Refuses To Withdraw Michel's Name As Nominee

WANTS CHOICE FORWARDED TO UPPER HOUSE

Minnesota Senator Assails Mitchell in Letter to President

Washington (AP)—Senator Schall wrote to President Hoover today refusing the administration's request to withdraw the name of Ernest A. Michel as his nominee for a Minnesota federal judgeship.

In a 4,000-word letter, the blind Republican senator suggested Michel's name be submitted to the senate with the objections of both the president and Attorney General Mitchell attached.

The president and Mitchell have declined to accept Michel's name. In a letter to Schall last week, President Hoover suggested that a list of eight or ten "fit appointees" be submitted to the senate. Schall today continued his attack on the attorney general, saying he could not submit a list of names for fear of subjecting "them to the same kind of an attack" as the one he has been made in.

"As a Republican and a senator," Schall wrote, "let me implore you, Mr. President, not to close your eyes to the lessons of recent political history."

"Taff wrecked his administration by trusting Ballinger, Harding wrecked his by trusting Hall, Daugherty and others of lesser notoriety like the late Rush Holt."

"Are you going to wreck yours by further trusting your attorney general? The answer is for you to make, but millions of loyal Republicans throughout the land are hoping and praying for a negative answer."

Mitchell, a native of Minnesota and a Democrat, recently accused Schall of backstabbing Michel as payment of a political debt.

Schall told the president he could not find another name which "could bring with it the unanimous support of the entire state delegation" in congress.

Schall contended the attorney general had "falsified the United States government when he prevented the execution of a judgment in its favor for over $1,000,000 inheritance tax upon the estate of a former client, Mrs. James J. Hill."

"Later, using his office as solicitor general," the senator wrote, "he prevented the supreme court from passing on the validity of the settlement which he had enabled that client to defend the government, though the firm drew up the papers for Mrs. Hill out of which grew the controversy."

"I can show you several other side-steps of your attorney general during his term of office if you are ready to listen to them."

The Minnesota said he had been informed today that the department of justice had sent an investigator into Minnesota to inquire of Michel. He asked that a full copy of this investigation be sent to the senate.

He asserted that if he were to follow the president's suggestion of submitting a list of names, "you would be sure to find something to criticize in them unless they should happen to include the public utility minded or as your attorney general puts it 'right-minded' attorneys whom he hopes, one by one, to foist upon the country."

Schall said later he had his letter to President Hoover read to the senate by the reading clerk. He also put into the record the president's letter to him.

CROPS NOT YET HURT FROM SNOW SCARCITY

While the extreme drought during the last few months has undoubtedly caused some slight damage to winter crops in the county, Gus Sell, county agent, said today he did not believe the lack of snow has materially hurt the winter crops up to the present time. Mr. Sell pointed out that winter crops of rye, wheat, alfalfa and clover usually are damaged by alternate spells of cold and warm weather, with thawing and freezing. He pointed out that there have been none of these periods so far but that they usually occur late in February or March.

The drought is causing a shortage of water, Mr. Sell said, and many farmers are reporting that their wells are drying up. A heavy snowfall would tend to relieve this situation, Mr. Sell said.

CHEESE FACTORY EARNS $25,991 DURING 1931

The cheese maker received $3,532.07. The factory received 1,874,870 pounds of milk during the year and 145,250 pounds of cheese were manufactured. The average price received for the cheese was 15.87 cents per pound. Cheese receipts totaled $24,513.57 while money received for the sale of whey cream was $1,478.41.

Wendell Meier was elected president of the factory, J. Schwabe, secretary; and H. Stewart, treasurer. Henry Stewart is proprietor of the factory, which is located on route 1, Dale.

JUDGE DENIES PAROLE PLEA FROM FREUND

Failure to Act on Application Means It Has Been Turned Down

Joseph Freund, Grand Chute farmer who was sentenced to state prison by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday for the theft of a calf from his neighbor, Emil Smith, will not be granted a parole. It was indicated this morning when the judge failed to act on Freund's request. After hearing his sentence yesterday, Freund asked the court for a parole and under the law the judge has 24 hours in which to change his sentence. Up to noon he had failed to act on the request, thereby automatically refusing Freund's request.

Freund was sentenced on three counts. He received one to three years at Waupun on a count of robbery, one year for larceny, and one year for concealing stolen property. The sentences are to run concurrently.

It was indicated last night that Freund would appeal his conviction to a higher court. Sheriff John Lappen, in whose custody Freund will remain until he is taken to the state prison, said this morning that Freund told him he planned to appeal the case. Up to this noon, however, Freund had not filed his appeal with Sydney M. Shannon, clerk of courts.

SPEECH CORRECTION WORK OUTLINED TO FIFTH WARD VOTERS

Activities of School Department Explained by Miss Anna Sullivan

Activities of speech correction work in Appleton public schools was outlined by Miss Anna Sullivan, head of the department, at a meeting of the Fifth Ward Voters' club at Wilson junior high school last night.

There are 151 children in the speech course in Appleton, and were the parochial schools and kindergartens care for, the number would be much greater, according to Miss Sullivan. She explained the manner in which children suffering from speech disorders are helped in small and inconspicuous group work.

Stuttering is the greatest handicap of a person, Miss Sullivan said, and it is hard to approach. In connection with this type of speech disorder, she spoke of the misplacement of consonants of some children and the use of baby talk, the latter of which is unnecessary in her behalf and needs only the aid of the parents to alleviate this disorder.

Sensitivity of a child handicapped in speech often creates an inferiority complex that affects their whole lives, according to Miss Sullivan, and she urged that individuals should be careful not to make fun of children as objects of humor. In connection with this she explained the part that physiology, neurology, and psychology play in the modern system of speech correction, citing examples from her own work.

The purposes and ideals of the Fifth Ward Voters' club were outlined by Assemblyman Oscar Schmieg. He stressed the necessity of good citizenship, cooperation, and the result of having a club that is organized to work with the aldermen.

The high school band, under the direction of E. C. Moore, opened the meeting with a semi-classical program, including an overture number, a serenade, novelty selection, a suite, and a finale march. Students featured in the musical program included Miss Ruth Cole, piccolo soloist; trombone quartet, Neal Given, Stanley Zahrt, Renoma Bartlein and Norman Pope; piccolo quartet, with Dennis Toll, Dorothy Wallace, Veronica Boehme, Ruth Cole.

Miss Arleen Luckner, soprano, and Carl Semne presented songs. Miss Luckner was accompanied by Russell Wichman; Mr. Semne by Russell Danburg.

J. M. Van Rooy and J. F. Bannister presented a comedy act, "Moonshiners," in costume.

Members on the entertainment committee were E. B. Rachow, chairman, Oscar Riches, F. Radtke, H. Seivert, J. Altenhofen, H. Bruggeman, T. Missling, C. Kruckeberg, G. Tesch, F. Kositzke, W. Steigenberg, H. Schmitzke.

Dan Leppia is president of the organization. George Lammie, vice president. R. C. Breitung is secretary.

DEATHS

MRS. WILLIAM H. MANLEY
Funeral services for Mrs. William H. Manley, former resident of Stevensville who was killed in an automobile accident in Chicago Sunday, will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Wichmann Funeral home. The Rev. Waltham Funk will officiate. Burial will be in the Stevensville cemetery. The body will arrive in Appleton at 11:42 Wednesday morning.

Mr. Manley, who is confined to a Chicago hospital with injuries received in the same wreck, will be unable to attend the funeral. After operating a cheese factory at Stevensville for a number of years Mr. Manley went to Chicago where he became vice president of the Malott wholesale grocery company. Besides Mr. Manley, one son, Elmer, Cleveland, Ohio, survives.

RELIEF FROM COLD SPELL DUE TONIGHT

Relief from the moderate cold wave which swept over Appleton and vicinity Monday night, sending the thermometer down to three degrees below zero, is due to arrive here Tuesday evening, according to the weatherman. The mercury is due for a rise throughout the middle west during the next 24 hours, and skies will clear, he says.

Skies will be cloudy, however, in the upper lake regions, and snow will probably fall. Winds are shifting in the south and southwest, a good indication that warmer weather is on the way.

At noon Tuesday the mercury registered 22 degrees above zero.

Two marriage licenses were issued Tuesday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. They were given to the following couples: Rudy Haare, Appleton, and Charlotte Ourski, Kaukauna; Frank Kraemer and Theresa Kraemer, 2 Appleton.

Miss P. A. Markow returned Monday after spending a week in Chicago. Mrs. C. D. Thompson returned Tuesday from a week's visit with relatives in Mequon, Mich.

MENASHA MAN IS BLAMED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Supreme Court Holds Wesly Saecker Entirely Responsible for Damages

The state supreme court, in two separate decisions, today held Wesley Saecker, Menasha, entirely responsible for damages in an accident between his car and that of L. B. Phillips, Appleton, on Highway 41 between Menasha and Appleton in February, 1930.

This case had originally been tried in court at Oshkosh before Judge E. Beglinger. Lee Royer, Menasha, won a verdict of about $11,500 against both Phillips and Saecker. At the same time the jury at Menasha disallowed Phillips claim for $800 damage from Saecker. Royer, a passenger in Saecker's car, was seriously hurt.

The supreme court reversed that part of the decision which held Phillips responsible for part of the damages to which Royer is entitled. In other words, Saecker is responsible for the entire $11,500. The supreme court also reserved the jury's decision and awarded Phillips damages from Saecker, holding Saecker responsible for the accident.

Judgment Affirmed
The state supreme court today affirmed a judgment of $7,971.70 awarded by a jury in circuit court here to Bernard Oik, Hortonville, in his suit against Louis M. Marquardt, Milwaukee. The damage suit was tried before Circuit Judge Edward Voigt here, after an affidavit of prejudice had been filed against Judge Edgar V. Werner. The case grew out of an automobile accident at the intersection of Highways 26 and 76, in September, 1929, in which Oik was seriously hurt. He claimed $800 damages for his car and the balance for permanent personal injuries. He claimed permanent injury to an eye and an ear, as well as to his face. Marquardt was charged with negligence which caused the accident. He denied negligence and asked dismissal of the case. When the jury awarded damages to Oik Marquardt carried the case to the supreme court.

In another decision the supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court in the suit brought by Dr. J. L. Benton, Appleton, who had been awarded damages of $390 from Antonio Stadler, Appleton. This case was tried before Judge Edgar V. Werner and Benton was awarded $190 for professional services, allegedly rendered to Stadler. Stadler appealed.

A new trial was ordered by the supreme court in the case of Knight and Postwick, New Jersey Strubbery company, against E. C. Moore. The New Jersey firm's suit for $150, claimed due on a contract, was dismissed in municipal court and the higher court reversed the decision and ordered a new trial.

The supreme court permanently disbarred George C. Stetson, Milwaukee, from the practice of law in Wisconsin.

Stetson was found guilty of professional misconduct and perjury and is serving a five year term in the Milwaukee house of correction. Revocation of his license to practice law was recommended by E. C. Fiedler, Beloit, special emissary of the supreme court.

The court confirmed an industrial commission award of $1,977.48 to Herman Koepsel, Appleton, for the loss of an eye while working in the Acme Body Works, Appleton, June 23, 1929.

Koepsel was hurt while removing stone with a sledge. A piece of stone struck his eye, eventually causing blindness. Although he signed a release for $70.72, the company, the industrial commission ruled he was entitled to $1,977.48 additional.

Gertrude Yankow, town of Ashford, sued Allen for injuries she sustained when the latter's car, in which she was riding, was wrecked near Menasha March 20, 1928.

Circuit Judge Fred Beglinger, Oshkosh, ordered a new trial on the motion of the defendant May 17, 1930. The supreme court today sustained Judge Beglinger's decision.

The supreme court ruled that A. C. McComb is not required to account to Lena T. McComb, administratrix of the estate of the late Mark W. McComb, for all property and possessions of the deceased now held or controlled by him.

The case was appealed from the circuit court, Winnebago county where a judgment was entered to dismiss the complaint, which alleged that due to the death of McComb on March 11, 1923, his father, the defendant, took possession of certain bonds, securities, debentures, and evidences of indebtedness of the deceased valued at $160,000.

The lower court determined that the titles to all securities and real estate of Mark McComb were held at all times by A. C. McComb and that nothing was ever made available to the former. Similar financial arrangements having been made with other members of the defendant's family.

ST. MARY SCOUTS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Boy scouts from Troop 6 of St. Mary church will meet at 7:15 Tuesday evening. An anniversary week program will be observed and the 20 years of scouting will be reviewed by Scout Douglas Heekle. About 10 boys will be taken into the troop as tenderfoot scouts. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake, supplied by Valley council of which the troop is a part, will be served.

PASSERSBY NOTICE FARM FIRE, HELP TO EXTINGUISH IT

Timely aid on the part of passersby and neighbors probably saved the residence of Norbert Strobel at Mackville from destruction by fire yesterday afternoon when flames from a defective chimney set fire to the roof. Mr. Strobel and his family were in the house, but knew nothing of the fire until passing motorists stopped and warned him. One of the motorists had a small can of chemicals which were used to check the flames, while other motorists went to a Mackville store to secure several larger cans of the chemical. These were used to put out the flames.

If the chemicals had not been available the house would have burned, Mr. Strobel said, because both the well and cistern were dry. No other water was available. It was estimated that the loss caused by the fire would exceed $800. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

BE CONFIDENT OF YOURSELF, EMPLOYEES TOLD

Recognize Ability and Development Initiative, Bailey Urges

A verbal picture of how the five fundamental and basic principles of life were applied in the championship baseball game between the Cleveland and Detroit teams several years ago, was painted by Edwin T. Bailey, San Diego, Calif., in his address, Coming Home From Third, at the initial meeting of the Appleton Safety school at Conway hotel Monday evening.

Approximately 400 men, employees in local industrial and manufacturing plants, which with the Appleton vocational school again is sponsoring the safety school, heard the address.

The speaker traced the nine innings of the championship game. He explained how Morarity, Detroit player, slid home from third base with the winning run in the ninth inning after two of his team mates had been retired.

"It takes recognition of ability, development of initiative, sacrifices, cooperation and establishment of self confidence to play the game of life and secure," he said.

He Scores Quitter
Scoring the quitter and coward who lacks the necessary initiative to finish the job, the speaker pointed out it is the man with the determination to say "I will" who will win the game by coming home from third.

"Sacrifice is the third principle of the game," he said. "The player who hesitates to first base to send Morarity to second after one man has been retired from the side, knew the meaning of sacrifice."

"There's a great feeling of satisfaction in knowing that you have done something for someone else, even to the extent of saving his life. That feeling can't be equaled."

Cooperation is the fourth essential, and it's necessary in the home, office, factory, plant and every other phase of life. We need to pull together if we are to accomplish what we are after. It's team work that makes a winning ball team, and it's team work that makes the wheels of industry whirl."

Mr. Bailey said that although he detested and abhorred a coward person, he also admired the man who says, "I know I can, and I know I will."

"A conceited person is one who thinks he's it, while the confident man is one who knows he is. Have a burning belief in yourself and don't be afraid to let the world know it," he said.

Education Helps
Declaring that high education, although a tremendous asset, is not the necessary or basic foundation for success, the speaker showed how simple boys with no schooling, but with the ability of recognizing the significance of little things, had achieved success.

For example he cited Eli Whitney, who invented the cotton gin and saved the industry in the south. He pointed out that Whitney conceived his idea by watching a cat pluck the feathers from a chicken in a crate in an attempt to get at her.

He also cited the example of Galileo, inventor of the pendulum as means of telling time. He explained that Galileo was lying lazily on a river bank watching a building when he saw a lantern swinging to and fro in a window.

"Recognize your ability and then use it in getting to first base," Mr. Bailey said, defining the first principle. "Make a hit, and score, that's what counts in the game of life as it does in any other game."

"Measure your ability by creating initiative. Commence to do things, and always feel that you are as good, if not better, than the other fellow. Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today, because tomorrow never comes."

CHARGE MAN DIDN'T SUPPORT CHILDREN

Anton Van Rommel, Little Chute, was arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge Theodore Berg on a charge of non-support. Preliminary hearing was set for Friday and Van Rommel is being held in the county jail under $500 bonds.

He was arrested by Sheriff John Lappen on complaint of Anton Johnson, who charges the man failed to provide for his three minor children.

NO INQUEST IS PLANNED INTO UNGER DEATH

Hortonville Man Struck by "Hit and Run" Driver, Authorities Think

There will be no inquest into the death of Delbert Unger, 50, Hortonville, it was decided this morning by District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl, after the autopsy yesterday revealed that Unger's death Sunday night was caused by pneumonia aggravated by a fractured skull.

Mr. Staidl said the results of the autopsy led him to believe that Unger was struck by a "hit and run" driver. The inquest was ordered in an effort to determine what caused Unger's death.

Unger was found in the ditch on Highway 26 at the Hortonville village limits about 8 o'clock Sunday morning. His skull had been fractured and he was unconscious. The man was brought to this city where he died Sunday night without regaining consciousness.

County authorities "doubted that Unger had been struck by a car, believing that he might have been waylaid by a thug. It was thought that he had been overheard in the village talking about collecting some money due him from a former employer, and that the thug, thinking he had collected it, waylaid him. This theory was set aside this morning."

ASKS $2,000 FOR DAMAGES TO PLANE IN ACCIDENT HERE

Case Is Being Retried After Reversal by State Supreme Court

Testimony was being taken in circuit court before Judge Edgar V. Werner this morning in the suit of Earl A. Grounke, Appleton, against the North American Airways company, operators of the "George A. Whiting Airport on Highway 41, between Appleton and Menasha."

The defendants were not contesting the suit, but under the law it is necessary to present the testimony before a jury which will fix the amount of damages to which the plaintiff is entitled.

Grounke is seeking damages to an airplane which he claims was wrecked by Elwin West, a pilot of the Airways' company. The plane, parked on the field, was struck by West, as the latter was landing from a flight. Grounke claims West's careless and negligent piloting caused the damage to his plane.

This case was previously tried in circuit court where Grounke won a judgment of $1,650. The supreme court, however, ordered a new trial. The accident happened in December, 1928.

The Grounke case was the first on a calendar to be tried this week at a special session of the court. There are seven other cases listed for trial, all still pending from the September term of court.

The New Way Doctors Use For Fat A Simple Gland Food

Modern doctors no longer advise starvation diet to the over-fat. Nor drugs to attack the fat. Science has found that a gland of excess fat lies in a woman's breast. Thus comes a scant supply of a secretion which largely controls nutrition. Too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy.

Doctors the world over now supply that lack, with the very factor long employed in Marmola prescription tablets. Marmola is prepared by a famous medical laboratory, to supply the right factors at a low cost so all may have the benefit. People have used it for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and millions have thus attained the normal figures all desire.

No secrets about it. A book in each box gives the formula and tells you how and why it acts. As the pounds go, there comes new joy in living. Just because the body gets a factor that it needs.

Marmola costs only $1 a box at your drug store. Go get it and watch the results. Do it for yourself. Do it because so many folks around you have benefited by it. Then tell others who need this help. Go start today.

FEW CHANGES IN BOSTON DURING PAST 10 YEARS

Old City Taking to Sky-scrappers and Reaching Out to Its Neighbors

Boston—(AP)—Its 300th anniversary last year still fresh in mind, this city scans the record of the 1930 census with scant concern over the changes which a mere decade have wrought.

The ten years since the census of 1920, it found, have altered the picture little, changing it here and there upon the surface and, in contrast, leaving beneath the modern veneer the solid background of three centuries of history.

The growth of business and industry set its mark upon the face of the city in the rise of new buildings and a mounting skyline, in widened streets and swelling traffic. But among these evidences of modern progress, nestled undisturbed in the maze of old streets, whose names are written large in the nation's history and revered landmarks.

Younger cities elbowed Boston aside during the decade and took its place in the honor roll of the country's largest. From seventh place in 1920, when it counted 748,000 inhabitants, it fell to ninth in 1930 with 781,185.

This city's growth, a bare 4.4 per cent in the cold percentage figures, was largely skyward. Hemmed in by the sea on one side and the encroaching boundaries of its closely packed suburbs, it found little room for outward expansion. Apartment buildings poked their heads above the tree-tops and in these thousands found homes.

Suburbs Crowded
Others spilled over the city's limits into the towns and cities that go to make up the metropolitan district, a crowded area that fell barely short of the 2,000,000 mark in last year's count.

This growth, a gain of approximately 16 per cent to a total of 955,168 for the district in 1930, Boston regards as more nearly representative of its development. Numbered within this area, most of them within ten or fifteen miles of the city's business district, are 12 cities, including Cambridge, facing Boston across the Charles river, and Somerville adjoining, each numbering more than 100,000. Including with them are 29 towns, including Brookline, called the wealthiest in America, with its population of 47,490, almost surrounded by the corporate limits of Boston.

The city saw its first "skyscraper" of the set-back type and more in the making. New office buildings and hotels rose in the Park-street district on the edge of the back bay. Famous hosteleries, the Adams house where once the great and near-great stopped, and Young's hotel faded from the picture.

New industries developed although the turn of 1930 found the city still relying largely on the sources of its growth—the sea from which it an-

ELECT NEW OFFICERS OF HI-Y CHAPTERS

Theta chapter officers were elected as follows: Gerard Hecker, president; John Rossmessl, vice president; James Krause, secretary; Wilbert Hansen, treasurer; Lewis Getchow, sergeant at arms.

PICTURE SHIPMENT RECEIVED AT SCHOOL

A new shipment of pictures has been received at Lincoln school to be sent out to various city schools after they are framed. The pictures were purchased with the money raised in the school art exhibit in November.

Usually takes heavy toll in shipping and fish, the boot and shoe and textile industries and the wool trade. On the cultural side the city looks optimistically toward the future. As a medical and health center the decade saw many developments reflected in new hospitals and research facilities. Its museums of art was enlarged. The enrollment of its schools and colleges bounded upward.

Throughout the decade the city and its people gave slight thought to growth or numbers and they see little prospect of any startling increase in the ten years to come. The city has little room for future growth except upward or by annexation.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germy mucus, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

It does not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Soviet Enlists Women To Meet Shortage Of Labor

Moscow—(AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Russian women, who during 1930 played an increased role in the socialization of Soviet Russia, are to be enlisted as workers in a further effort to solve the union's serious labor shortage.

With thousands of jobs open and no takers, the government is completing plans to fill vacancies with women, providing nursery facilities for children who will be brought up under the care of the state.

An official announcement states: "The problem of attracting hundreds of thousands of women to industrial labor is acute. Consequently in order to solve this problem as painlessly as possible the government, together with the trade unions and other social organizations, has elaborated a number of measures directed toward freeing women from domestic work and securing their children with necessary care while the mothers are at work."

Measures listed include opening of a great number of new nurseries, extension of the network of social dining rooms, construction of laundries and other enterprises which will free women from domestic work.

An estimate is made of 170,000 children to be cared for during 1931 as against 70,000 in 1930. The budget for the purpose has been increased from 27,000,000 roubles (about $13,500,000) last year to $3,000,000 roubles (about $11,000,000) this year.

An official report says that 300,000 women are members of trade unions and that "conditions make them economically equal to men." Under the government's plan 15,000 women this year will be given opportunity to raise their qualifications and 370,000 girls trained in factory apprentice schools.

CENTRAL HOSPITAL HOUSES 244 INSANE

Capacity of Institution Only 125, Says Dr. Rock Sleyster

Milwaukee—(AP)—Of the 290 criminally insane in Wisconsin's mental institutions 244 are in the Central State hospital, Dr. Rock Sleyster, chairman of the sub-committee on facilities of the committee on crime and criminal justice, said in a talk over radio station WTMJ last night.

"This hospital has a capacity of 125," Dr. Sleyster continued. "In trying to take care of 244 individuals, they are carrying an overload of practically 95 per cent. Even with the new buildings, now under construction, in service, we shall not have the capacities to care for even those that are now committed to this institution."

Much constructive work among patients is foregone because the time for possible cure is limited by the pressure of new admissions, Dr. Sleyster said. He told of a considerable number of promising cases having been prematurely transferred to less adequately equipped county institutions.

"The Board of Control has repeatedly asked for adequate facilities for these institutions and just as repeatedly the legislature has turned a deaf ear. Wisconsin should lay this whole matter of conditions in our penal and correctional institutions—and especially with regard to the hospital facilities—heavily upon its conscience, and make it clear to its representatives at Madison that minimum facilities must be provided."

Good Men Don't Work For Nothing

The Human Element in Bread Making

Bakers, strange as it may seem, are very human individuals, even as you and I. They eat and sleep and enjoy the same pleasures that other folks do; they have the same sorrows and emotions that affect the rest of the world.

What's more, there are good bakers and bakers that are not so good, just as there are good and indifferent steel workers, shoemakers and necktie salesmen. Believing that it takes the best to make the best, we employ only the highest caliber of workmen.

A laborer is worthy of his hire. Our men are paid top wages and the labor is one of the principal costs in the making of good bread. When you buy a loaf of Cobb's bread you buy a loaf made of the best ingredients that money can buy, assembled by men who are well paid and happy at their work. There's a logical reason why good bread, made by competent workmen, is worth what it costs.

YOU TOO FINLAND?

Undisturbed by cables from this country the government of Finland has appointed its own Wickersham committee to make "a searching investigation" into the failure of prohibition in that land and see what can be done about it.

The Finns are surprised and disappointed at the United States. They followed our lead in adopting prohibition June 1, 1919, and now are keeping up the parallel, sort of following us on in the hope that we will find the right solution for the age-old problem. They seem to think that since we led them into the desert it's up to us to show the way out.

It is now nearly twelve years since Finland prohibited anything stronger than two per cent and it hasn't worked. It reports that speakeasies adorn the land, that private stills are sputtering wherever brew is not bubbling. Its recitation of evils arising in the wake of prohibition sounds identical with our own, drunkenness among the young, ineptitude a mark of pride instead of shame, widespread corruption among enforcement officials, a flouting of all law, the great strides made by the criminal classes in strengthening their position through gains gotten-out of the alcohol trade, and in sum "that enforcement is impossible."

If we are going to cling to prohibition we ought to make the Finns stay with us, not merely because misery likes company but because if they quit us we are left practically alone with the lands of Islam where the ghimtar still adorns the flag when it isn't lopping off unbelievers' heads, where men may have all the wives they please so long as they bow their foreheads to the ground twice a day exclaiming, "Allah is great! There is no god but Allah and Mohammed is his prophet!" We certainly are in great company. And if the Finns desert us and leave us there alone, it's just a dirty trick.

"KING OF ALL I SURVEY"

It is rather disappointing to learn that Mr. Martin Harman will no longer be allowed to coin money for the inhabitants of Lundy Island; and if you have never heard of Mr. Martin Harman and Lundy Island you have been missing something interesting.

Lundy Island is a casual bit of land, about 1000 acres in extent, which lies in Bristol channel a matter of 15 miles from the coast of Devon, in England. Some years ago the whole island was bought by this Martin Harman, a British financier, who has since ruled it like an island king.

Lundy Island seems, indeed, to have been a delectable spot. Its inhabitants paid no taxes. Its police force consisted of one husky constable, who put down disorder with an iron hand. And Mr. Harman, who was boss of everything, quite naturally took to coining his own money, issuing little coins which bore a likeness of his own face on one side.

It was this last step that got him into trouble with the British law. After extended litigation, the highest court has ruled that he cannot coin his own money. He has insisted that Lundy Island is a British dominion, and not a part of the British Isles: a dominion of which he is king; but the court will not have it so. Mr. Harman, even if he does own an island, is a mere citizen, like all the rest; and it seems a pity.

It seems a pity because ownership of a remote island has always looked like the one sure way in which one could step outside of the ordinary world and be self-sufficient. Islands were meant to be diminutive monarchies, anyway. When you step on one you feel as if you have removed yourself from the shackles that are fastened about your ankles in every-day life, and that is the way it should be. If a man can't escape from government, rules, regulations and the scrutiny of his fellows by going to a lonely island, what hope is there?

All of this apparently, was in Mr. Harman's mind. During the litigation that followed his attempts to set up a coinage system his lawyers even went so far as to argue that Lundy Island had no legal existence; to assert that it was "outside the world" as far as the law was concerned. It is too bad that this claim was not allowed. What mortal does not, at times, long for a chance to get "outside the world" for a brief period?

But the British court, with true British stolidity and matter-of-factness, stepped hard on this contention. Mr. Harman, for all that he is sole owner of the island, is just another British subject, and must obey the laws that all other British subjects obey. It is a shame, but there is no help for it. Islands or no islands, we must conform.

THE LONG ROAD

Sorrowfully facing the tenants on his vast estate at Cliveden, England a fortnight ago, Viscount Astor announced the closing of the property because "I am forced to economize. Out of every hundred pounds I receive I have to pay sixty to the state in taxes."

The present viscount is son of that William Waldorf Astor, born in New York, who transferred his citizenship to England forty years ago after his defeat for a seat in congress and because, it was believed at the time, he was disgruntled at the failure of his fellows to appreciate his talents, or possibly, the atmosphere of England in those Victorian days was more in keeping with his views concerning "the rights of the wellborn."

His money,—which he and his ancestors had accumulated in this country,—gave him such entree and opportunity in England that he was shortly raised to the peerage and became one of the elect just at a time when, unfortunately, the elect were hitting the skids with lightning speed. But how could Astor read the convulsions of the future? Who in England forty years ago would ever dare to think that a working man would shortly head the British empire? To think such a thing was hardly possible, to utter it ribald and blasphemous.

But was it very grateful for the family that had been treated so generously in this country to turn upon the land of their birth? The ordinary person is not driven to leave his own soil except by gross injustice or unendurable hardship. There is something almost poetic in the reversal of fortune where pride as usual precedes the fall. Why should a man think because he has inherited or earned a fortune that he should be put on any particular pedestal or that he ought to go into a sulky, glumly show the tantrums and with the pettiness of a spoiled child, quit the nation which made possible his fortune? Success, which may be spelled in riches or prominence works queer quirks with some, when instead it should breed humility and thankfulness.

Having found that citizenship in England is very costly, that the title of nobility—all received for the change—is less than worthless, Astor should strip to the waist and tie into the burden all the harder,—but Astor won't. It is time for another move.

About the time the original Astor was crossing to these shores without more than a thin dime in his pocket, Walter Scott was writing a poem now printed in most school books using the English language. It questions whether there is any "with soul so dead" as to lose the thrill of returning to his native land, for such must go "unwept, unhonored and unsung."

ATTACK ON LANCASTER
On Feb. 10, 1676, one of the bloodiest assaults of King Philip's War took place when Philip, in company with his allies, the Nipmucks, attacked Lancaster, Mass.

Fiske, the historian, vividly describes the assault: "On the 10th of that month, at sunrise, the Indians came swarming into the lovely village. Danger had already been apprehended, the pastor, Joseph Rowlandson, the only Harvard graduate of 1652, had gone to Boston to solicit aid, and Captain Wadsworth's company was making its way from Marlborough, but the Indians were beforehand."

"Several houses were at once surrounded and set on fire, and men, women and children began falling under the tomahawk. The minister's house was large and strongly built and more than 40 people found shelter there until at length it took fire and they were driven out by the flames. Only one escaped, a dozen or more were slain, and the rest, chiefly women and children, were taken captive."

At the end of the month the Indians followed this assault with a shocking massacre at Medfield and made murderous assaults on several other western Massachusetts towns.

SO, AS we discovered yesterday, they're not going to bring Smedley Butler—the hard-bolled marine—to a court-martial after all . . . all they did was write him a letter bawling him out . . . as if that made any difference . . . but now we see the point of it all—yeah, just a big publicity stunt for General Butler WHO IS GOING TO COMMENCE A LECTURE TOUR NEXT FALL, "THE CONTRACT HAD BEEN SIGNED BEFORE THE ROW ABOUT MUSSOLINI BROKE OUT . . . Maybe that's too cynical a bunch, but we're betting that the General cleans up when he starts his lecturing . . .

Yeah, it's beginning to creep into the papers, and it's almost as bad as the pictures of people sunning themselves on the Florida beaches.

Huh? Oh, those nitwits who go in for bathing in Lake Michigan and pose for photographers with one arm wrapped around a twenty-five pound chunk of ice.

All congratulations to the boy scouts for having reached their twenty first birthday. But we wonder about the widespread thought that if everyone had been a boy scout, there wouldn't be any crime problem.

We dunno, there are quite a few newspapermen who wore badges and kahki suits when they were youngsters.

The movies tell us about the twelve year old boy who is making solo flights in his airplane. S'awful.

It's the Solemn Truth

we had an accident Saturday night yes it was this way you remember how slippery it was well we were coming west on east college avenue traveling at a very low rate of speed as we always do when right ahead in our traffic lane was a car standing still well you remember how slippery it was and we put on our brakes and booped our boop horn and the car stayed right where it was and we were getting uncomfortably closer and then we started to go to the left of the parked car in our traffic lane but there was a car coming the other way so we had to resign to fate and hop the parked car in our traffic lane with a good boop on the seat of its trousers honest we might as well have been on ice skates for all the good our brakes and tires did and besides that fellow didn't have any right to stop in a traffic lane but according to law it's our fault so we had to tell our insurance company to pay the bill the laws of this country are very unjust.

The greater part of Chicago, we learn, has been filled in with ashes and tin cans, which are supposed to be very good when packed down. No mention, however, was made of the value of garbage as a foundation.

Just Folks

THOUGHTS WHILE-PACKING A GRIP MYSELF

Toothbrush, razor blades and brush
Tossed together in a rush;
Nightie, dress shirt, shoes and hose!
Where the studs are, goodness knows!
Brushes, comb and necktie—black,
Grips are things which wives should pack.
But she's out and I don't know
What stays home and what must go.

Underwear and evening vest,
When you get there have it pressed!
Wonder if there's room enough
In the case for all this stuff?
If I jam it in perhaps
I can close it with the straps.
Why can't mother hurry back?
When she knows I've got to pack?

Guess I'd better look once more!
There's my bathrobe on the door!
Slippers, throat spray, that must go,
But I'll never use it though.
Once again I'll run the list
Making sure that nothing's missed.
Toothbrush, razor blades and comb,
Why can't mother stay at home?

Once more look and one more check,
Coat and vest and they're a wreck!
But the trousseau, where are they?
Still upon the hook they stay!
What if I had gone to find
I had left my pants behind?
She'd have heard some language black
Out of me when I got back.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

STOP, TEACHER, STOP AND TURN BACK

A high school teacher had better be careful of her step when she strays off this way:

Dear Dr. Brady:
I get out of patience with some types of health books used in the grades. The following rules are taken from one of the latest text-books for children:

"Drink 4 to 6 glasses of water every day."
"Take a glass of water on rising in the morning."
"Take exercise every night on going to bed."
"Take 10 deep breaths before open window morning and night with setting up exercise."
"Sleep on the side, mainly the left side."

"Walk with erect carriage."
"Sit erect at study."
"Sit erect while conversing."
"Wash stockings every day."
Who is the medical or health authority for such rules? Am I wrong in thinking some of these instructions ridiculous? For instance, can one comfortably walk with erect carriage? Can one remain erect and keep one's mind on study? Would a boy who failed to wash his stockings every day be neglecting his health or risking illness?

If you make any comment on this please do not use the name of writer or the name of school.

Very truly yours,
There is no good medical or health authority for any of the rules or recommendations.

But we must remember that the text-book racket is not run by physicians or by honest health authorities. It is run by publishers.

Before a health textbook can have a profitable sale the subject matter of the book must be carefully examined by representatives of big business, to make sure the children shall be taught nothing that may tend to make them less eager customers for all sorts of commodities, merchandise or superfluities which are marketed largely on the basis of "health appeal."

This is the reason, I think, why such textbooks are packed with just such nonsensical stuff as the unsophisticated teacher quotes. She should have a care how she regards such discipline—her superiors may have to discipline her if she gives expression to her honest opinions.

Take, for instance, that one about sleeping on the left side. Harmless enough; who can complain about it? Silly, of course, but then, it is quite probable that many of the parents, ignorant, as they are, of physiology, will imagine there is some subtle reason for that, and so it gets by. Then take the command one about washing your stockings every day. Of course it is as harmless as sleeping on your left side, but again, isn't there a vague notion that such cleanliness is somehow "sanitary" and isn't anything that purports to be "sanitary" likely to be healthful? If the latter doesn't reason that way, what's the use of the millions and millions of the lady's easy money that the big business people spend annually in building up health appeal?

Just try and write a health textbook that teaches the scientific truth about keeping well, and see if you can get any large school board to approve the adoption of your fool book. If you aspire to introduce a health textbook you've got to follow the orders of the big textbook racketeers.

Mystery in the Buttermilk.

I received from a friend what they call Bulgarian Buttermilk. It looks like the flowers of cauliflower. When put in fresh milk for 24 hours it sours the milk, and this is considered a cure for . . . (M. R.)

Answer—I like mystery in murder yarns. Some folks like it in buttermilk. I do not recommend either Bulgarian buttermilk cultures or Acidophilus bacillus cultures for souring milk. I believe plain buttermilk is rather more wholesome as a beverage and will cure anything that the mysterious esoteric sour milk beverages can cure—which is practically nothing.

I am 53 years old, and I never use any stimulants except tea and coffee in moderation. The past year fine veins have been appearing on my nose and cheeks. Can anything be done for this? I can't blame people if they suspect I'm drinking too much. (Mrs. A. E. K.)

Answer.—A physician skilled in electro-surgery can obliterate the little dilated venules with diathermy or electrolysis.

Wheat, Wheat.
We wished to try eating whole seed wheat as you suggested. The feed store man asked my father what he wanted it for, and when father explained, said "Yes, a lot of cranks have been looking for whom send the newspaper doctor recommended it, but I tell you it is not fit for human consumption. It refined properly to make it safe is feed for chickens, and it must be for folks to eat." (O. E. S.)

Answer.—We paper doctors can't suit the wooden doctors, it seems. Maybe the feed man sells wheat that contains sticks and stones and little animals. Try some clean wheat as it comes from the threshers.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE oxen traveled rather slow and shortly Scotch said, "I know I'll run a little while. I don't know how long I will last, but we're not moving very fast. I'll keep up with the oxen, if it's only for a mile."

Who's game to join me? Come ahead. Don't ride. It's fun to run, instead. We all might even have a race. That ought to be a thrill. And listen, do you realize that it will give us exercise? We're coming to a dandy place, atop a little hill."

"All right," said Carpy. "Down we'll run and it will be a heap of fun. But I will bet that Clowdy will not join us. No, not him. He'd rather take it easy. Gee, he's just as lazy as can be. Whenever we are planning on a run he's not in trim."

And Carpy found that he was right. Poor Clowdy huddled out of sight, pretending he was fast asleep. The others had their race. The oxen soon were left behind, but Carpy didn't seem to mind. Then shortly caught up with the boys. Each had a puffing face.

"Well, climb back on our little cart and rest your tired and pounding heart," exclaimed the friendly Travel Man. "You all look quite worn out. So, as they climbed a new hill, steep, the Tynits all fell fast asleep. It wasn't long until they woke, to hear wee Clowdy shout:

"Of all the funny things," said he, "look wonder at that great big tree." Then to the funny looking tree the little ox-cart came.

"That is a bottle tree, my lad," exclaimed the Travel Man. "I'm glad you've had a chance to see one isn't that a funny name?"

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Famed among his sarcasm, his sharp tongue, his cutting words is Thad Caraway of Arkansas.

Few relish engaging in verbal encounter with this gaunt, semi-bald southerner.

He roams the floor, hands deep in his pockets, head almost buried in his shoulders most of the time the senate is in session.

Suddenly he will pause in his wandering to interrupt a speaker. More than likely such an interruption will require only a few words, but those words usually hit with telling effect.

He speaks with a drawl (his southern accent probably is the most pronounced of any senator) that is calculated to infuriate when he so pleases.

Then, with the greatest indifference, he resumes his roaming. It is as if he cared the least of any one in the world as to what else might be said.

A NEW CARAWAY
Caraway has become greatly aroused about conditions in his state at the present. He has been one of the most active in pushing relief measures for those agricultural sections of the country suffering as a result of the drought.

The other day he arose from his desk to make another plea that these people be given government aid to relieve suffering.

And it was a new Caraway — a Caraway unlike the one to whom senate observers are accustomed. He didn't roam around as usual. There was a tenderness in his voice.

He talked for a long time. He pleaded for the little children "that they might eat, that they might have just enough clothes to keep them from freezing."

He cited incident after incident of suffering. He was insistent that a federal appropriation for relief in such cases was nothing new.

Applause—in Cash
At his side during the delivery of this speech sat a tall, mild-mannered, gray-haired man. Pencil moved fast back and forth across a note-book in his fingers.

Percy Budlong, veteran reporter of debates in the senate, was taking down Caraway's speech word for word.

When the senator had finished, Budlong retired to the reporters' room to transcribe his shorthand notes for the Congressional Record. When he had finished, he returned to the senate chamber and approached Caraway.

In his hand was a check for $50. He handed it to Caraway with the simple statement: "For the people you described a moment ago, Senator."

And Caraway was almost in tears when he took of the incident later in the democratic cloakroom.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSCOCK

New York—Winter weather in New York is a peculiar brand, with slush and rain instead of snow and sleet, zephyrs instead of gales.

That, at least, is how it seems to visitors from parts where snow-shoveling is a seasonal chore.

One who has been on the island of Manhattan less than 10 years is likely to suspect that New York never has a white Christmas, or a heavy snow at any other time. The weather bureau concedes that.

Yet it minimizes the climate-controlling effect of the city's artificial heat and asserts that the weather, as reckoned over the years, really hasn't changed.

Lofly Gales
The heat generated by the town's furnaces and underground steam pipes and by the bodies of its millions of inhabitants has had but slight effect on the outdoor temperatures, the weather bureau says.

The flag with the red ball still is hoisted from the Central park armory to invite skaters to the park's ponds, and if the wind seems to sweep more leisurely on the sidewalks one should take an elevator ride to any thirty-first-floor office.

There the gales blow with their full ferocity and the wind whistles above the secretary's typewriter-tapping with the melancholy wall of prairie nights.

On those days the newspaper reading room of the public library is overcrowded with unshaven delinquents dozing over outspread sheets in a stupor of habitual unemployment, waiting for the hour of their next breadline meal. h'e ankles of the hot chestnut vendors, standing behind their charcoal braziers outside, know it's still a cold, cold town.

It is not at all improbable, the weather bureau believes, that some day New York may again be visited by a blizzard like that famous one of March 12 and 13, 1888, when the East river froze over and city traffic stopped. An association of 1888 blizzard survivors meets on anniversaries of that notable event to talk over the year of the big snow.

Not since 1910 has Manhattan had a white Christmas, and there has been no heavy snowfall since 1920, the weather bureau says. The last big storm was February 3 to 7 1930, when snow, sleet and rain fell in continuous relays.

A Mild Winter
Up to this writing, the current winter has been without a snowfall worthy of the name. The skies refused to contribute to unemployment relief. But the city, at any rate, was saved money, for a snow that sticks, even though a light one, costs more than a million dollars of the taxpayers' money to remove and causes an even greater loss in delay to costly commercial traffic.

Without snow to mant'le the town's uglier spots, winter in New York lacks the old-time picturesqueness.

Instead, fog, gray and gloomy makes the cityscape dreary and depressing. If the day happens to be clear and there is a faraway sleigh-like tinkle of bells, it is but a sound mirage, or probably some intrepid hot dog and lemonade vendor out with his pushcart in the temporary sunlight.

Barbs
The champion ash can roller of Massachusetts asked the New York Athletic Commission for permission to roll an ash can up Broadway. He'll make his own great white way.

Rounds Out 38 Years Of Service As Public Official

BY W. F. WINSEY

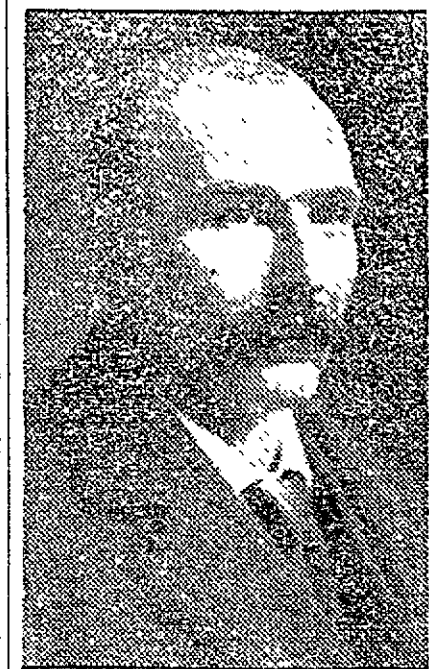

Dale—The oldest living official in point of continuous service in the town of Dale, and in Outagamie county is David Zehner of this village. He has served his constituents in official capacity for more than 38 years. Elected in 1893, he held the office of town chairman seven successive years. In 1902 he was elected town clerk and held that office, with the exception of one year from the date of the election to the present time. In both offices, Mr. Zehner served 38 years which term is considered a fairly good start by his constituents. He also served five years in addition as school clerk. This added to his term of service as town officer gives him a record of 48 years. Besides these political offices, Mr. Zehner has often held offices of trust such as administrator of estates, guardian and trustee, and served as director of the Home Insurance Company, Hortonville, two years.

"It now takes three times as long to do the work of town clerk as it used to when I was first elected to the office," said Mr. Zehner. "The increase in time required is due to changes that have been made in the duties of the town board. The town clerk, however, formerly compiled the school reports sent him by the clerks of the school districts, but now the clerks of the school districts send their reports direct to the county superintendent. This change cut down the work of town clerks considerably."

Duties Heavier Now A great many changes in the assessments of towns have materially increased the work of town clerks. Formerly farm lands were all assessed in one class, but now they are assessed as cultivated land, timber lands, and swamp lands, and each class is assessed according to its particular value. Formerly there was one rate of assessment for entire farms, but now there are several rates. Taxes used to be figured at one rate, but now they are figured on several rates. This change has greatly increased the work of town clerks, according to Mr. Zehner.

Increased activities and funds of the rural schools have increased the work of town clerks. These activities are the building and equipment of new schools and operating the schools with many new departments, nine months of the year as compared with a former four months' winter term and a two months' summer term.

During Mr. Zehner's term of official service, five new modern school buildings have been erected in the town of Dale, in the place of the old school house, and two others have been repaired and modernized. Among the new buildings are the Medina school, erected at a cost of $19,000; Dale, at a cost of $13,000; the West school, at a cost of $6,500; District No. 3 school at a cost of $3,200; and district No. 2 school at a cost of $5,200. The village of Dale is spending $2,650 yearly in the maintenance of its new high school. Formerly it cost $150 each annually, to run the schools of the town of Dale, but it now costs $14,450 annually, according to Mr. Zehner's record.

DAVID ZEHNER

ords. The state and county pays $3,500 annually for the support of the schools of the town of Dale.

Thirty-eight years ago the number of children of school age in the town of Dale was about equal to the number today, which is 345. At that time teachers were paid at from $20 to $40 per month and now they are being paid from $100 to $150 per month.

Mr. Zehner has been connected with all this school progress and has kept precise records of all the educational improvements.

RECEIVER ASSUMES CONTROL OF NOTED CHICAGO NEWSPAPER

Evening Post Will Continue Publication Under Court's Ruling

Chicago—(P)—George F. Getz, wealthy business man and sportsman, was appointed receiver for the Chicago Evening Post today and authorized to continue publishing the paper.

John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Post for 30 years, retired Saturday at about the same time a receivership petition was filed in superior court.

In announcing that the paper was passing "out of my control," Mr. Shaffer said: "The financial burden of carrying The Post as a publishing enterprise has become greater than my other responsibilities justify me in bearing." He emphasized that "one of my other business interests is involved in the affairs of the Chicago Evening Post. He is publisher of the Indianapolis Star, the Alameda Star and the Terre Haute Star.

The appointment of a receiver was the result of action started by the Arthur Dixon Trust company which took a $500 judgment against the paper and reported that no property was found when an attempt was made to serve the judgment. The bill said the liabilities of the Post were $2,000,000 and the assets less than that amount.

Getz is head of a large fuel and building company and is chairman of the governor's commission on unemployment. He is a member of the Illinois State Boxing commission, a big game hunter, and was one of the promoters of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago.

Getz announced his acceptance of the appointment in a formal statement in which he said that he hoped "in addition to conserving its assets for the creditors, to prevent the loss of the influence of this newspaper to the community and to assure its continuance as an influential daily newspaper in the Chicago afternoon field."

Judge Denis E. Sullivan in appointing the receiver expressed a similar hope. "The public has an interest in its continuance," he said, "and in entering this order, and directing the receiver to continue its publication, I hope that such reorganization may be worked out as will permit its continuing to serve this community with the leadership it has had in the past; faithfully, honestly and courageously."

SAYS RETRENCHMENT TO BLAME FOR SLUMP

Milwaukee—(P)—Too great a retrenchment upon the part of merchants and manufacturers is blamed by W. F. Doyle of the Lloyd Manufacturing company for the business depression.

Speaking before the annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Furniture Dealers' association, Doyle charged the manufacturers and merchants rather than their employees were responsible for tightening of purse strings.

"Our trouble is due only partly to unemployment," he said. "The millions hoarded and lying idle in the hands of merchants and manufacturers are much to blame for our difficulties."

Beloit—(P)—One of the founders of Beloit hospital and the Beloit General hospital, Dr. Daniel E. Connell, 60, for 20 years a practicing physician here, is dead after an operation. He was born in Manitowoc.

Talk About Lincoln Is Club Topic

D. R. J. B. McILARG, who has made an intensive study of all phases of the life of Abraham Lincoln, talked on the Religion of Abraham Lincoln at the meeting of the Amos Lawrence club of Lawrence college at the guild hall of the Episcopal church Sunday evening.

After a supper and the address the annual election of officers was held. Gordon Nelson, '29, succeeded George Beckley as president. Miss Elizabeth Hayden, '32 is the vice president. Robert Giles, '24, the secretary, and Irving Peters, '34, treasurer.

A committee was appointed to make a survey of Episcopal students to determine the number planning to devote their lives to church work.

The Amos Lawrence club will attend the meeting of the Young People's group at Fond du Lac next Sunday afternoon, and the next meeting of the local club will be on March 8. The executive committee is making special arrangements for a dinner to be given in honor of Dean Grant of Western Theological seminary on Thursday evening, March 19.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS PLAY BY SODALITY

A large crowd witnessed the presentation of "Father Walks Out," given under the auspices of the Young Ladies sodality of St. Joseph church, Sunday afternoon and evening at the parish hall. Those who took part in the play were Henry Jungs, Neenah, who directed the production, Marie Dohr, Cecile Haag, Joseph Grassburger, John Rossmel, Carolyn Maurer, Helen Rechner, Maurice Roemer, and Eileen Schomisch.

Between acts George Lausman gave several whistling songs, Miss Marie Allert sang, and Cyril Theis gave a number of accordion selections.

The plot of the play centers around Arnold Gates, a wealthy contractor and builder, who is forced to take drastic steps to halt the extravagance of his wife and daughter. He takes his family to the country to reform them but the tables are turned on him. However, the ending is satisfactory to all concerned.

Officers Of Club Plan Bridge Tea

FIRST officers and directors of the old St. Elizabeth club will sponsor a Valentine bridge tea at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Crystal room of Conway hotel, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the King's Daughters for the free maternity fund.

Several of the first officers have moved from the city, but the 14 who remain will act as a committee for the party. They are Mrs. D. J. O'Connor, president; Mrs. T. J. Long, first vice president; Mrs. John Morgan, second vice president; Mrs. J. I. Monaghan, recording secretary; Mrs. George Weick, financial secretary; Mrs. E. C. Elliott, treasurer; Mrs. M. S. Otto, Mrs. Gustave Keller, Sr., and Mrs. George T. Hegner.

The club was organized in 1924 for the purpose of raising $12,000 to endow a free bed at St. Elizabeth hospital. When the fund was raised, the endowed bed was turned over to the hospital staff and, its purpose accomplished, the club disbanded.

Any members of the old St. Elizabeth club or friends who wish to make reservations for the bridge tea may call any member of the committee.

Make Child Keep Hanky On Person

This is handkerchief time. A clean handkerchief ought to be part of a child's everyday equipment. This handkerchief is for use so please make it accessible, and big enough for service, and not costly.

"Where is your handkerchief, Martin?"

"It's in my sweater pocket out in the wardrobe."

"Why don't you keep it in your pocket when you know you will need it?"

"Cause I haven't any pocket."

"All right. Go and get it and next time please carry it in your sleeve or your stocking or somewhere handy so that the whole class won't have to stop work so you can use your handkerchief."

"Mary, Mary, use your handkerchief."

"I can't, teacher."

"Why not, I'd like to know."

"I used it up before school. I have such a cold, teacher."

"Go to the closet and get some soft paper, Mary. When you use that it can go into the basket."

"And what's the matter with your handkerchief, Charlotte?"

"Nothing."

"Then why not use it?"

"I don't use it. It's a birthday handkerchief."

"But my dear, handkerchiefs are meant to be used."

"Not birthday handkerchiefs, Miss Katherine," and Charlotte held up a concoction of chiffon and lace with pink rosebuds in the corner.

"You're right. Go get some paper."

At the close of the reading lesson Miss Katherine made a speech. "Now look here children. This is handkerchief time. I know you can't help sneezing and coughing. And you can't help the kind you have because you have to take what is given you. But you will please ask your mothers to let you have a cheap handkerchief for sneezes, and a bunch of paper ones for noses while you have need of them. I'm going to put a stock of tissue paper on the table in the corner and anybody who needs a handkerchief is welcome to use a tissue sheet. But please tell your mother about this."

"And to have your handkerchiefs where you can get them without waste of time. A handkerchief in your overcoat pocket might just as well be at home for any service it gives you in the classroom. You can have a handkerchief pocket just as well as not."

"Miss Katherine, couldn't we carry a handbag for it?"

"No, Charlotte, you can't. I have trouble enough now getting you all down stairs with your belongings. If you add handbags and purses I shall give up. Please have pockets."

Paper handkerchiefs for service. A cheap, clean handkerchief for service in ordinary, and a handy pocket, will help a great deal. Children who are coughing and sneezing ought to stay in bed until the cold is better and not risk their own health and that of their classmates. (Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE card which had accompanied Sue's roses was found in the waste-paper basket.

The writing on the card and the torn sheet of paper were compared, by Mr. Merryman shook his head.

"They aren't alike, Jack. I'm afraid we're off at a tangent again."

"I know. One slants and one doesn't. And one uses round letters and the other makes them thin." Jack's eyes were still scrutinizing the writing, though.

"But whoever wrote the thin ones worked mighty hard to make them that way," Sue interrupted. "Can't you see how studied that writing is? And look! The 't's' are crossed exactly alike!"

"But why should anyone try to disguise his or her writing on a slip of paper that was going to be thrown away almost at once?" Mrs. Merryman asked. "It seems like a lot of work for nothing."

"I know it," Jack nodded and his gray eyes flashed her a sympathetic, understanding smile. "But some times people with crooked brains do queer things. May I have the card? You don't want to keep it among your souvenirs, do you, Mrs. Merryman?"

"Are you going to have the writing compared by an expert?" Sue asked, and Jack nodded.

"I'll send it right off and have the man who has answer. There's an expert, one of the biggest authorities on the subject anywhere, who ought to examine it." He named the city where he lived, one about 50 miles away. Sue was formulating an idea. "Jack the trial opens tomorrow and the envelope might be lost in the mail. Couldn't I go over on the next train. Then I could call you as soon as I know."

So in less than 30 minutes Sue was sitting in the chair car, watching the country slip by. She closed her eyes and hoped that nothing eventful would happen this time. She was beginning to feel tired when she was quiet.

She noticed the luster of the fur coats which the few other women in the car were wearing, but she felt no envy. Somehow material things were growing less and less important every hour. But she was secretly glad that she had a new outfit for the trial.

"I had to have it," she told the flying trees. "Everything was wearing out. And it is good looking."

Appraisingly she eyed the soft black wool dress which used dark green crepe de chine in the sleeves and neck. Her eyes ran down to the high-heeled green suede pumps that matched, then found the tweed coat, also green, whose collar and narrow belt were in keeping with the coming spring mode. The tri-corn hat of matching green ribbon had cost a ridiculous sum, but she had decided she would be in harmony. Her gloves and pocketbook were of black suede, but they, too, were new.

"I look prosperous," Sue reflected, crossing her silken legs. "It's strange how new clothes can add joy to life. I feel . . . successful."

But almost at once the memory of her father, in the new blue suit, which he had bought for the trial, came to her mind. Oh, what did it matter that she was young and slim and lonesome, if he must suffer? she thought, and went to the home of the cirographer, still thinking of it. A telegram from Jack had preceded her and she was granted admittance at once.

When she returned for the verdict an hour later her heart was beating rapidly.

"What did you find?" she asked.

NEXT: Sue calls Jack.

Under the law, the district attorney pointed out, Washington's birthday is made a legal holiday and when the event falls on Sunday, the date is observed on the following Monday.

FACE CREAMS BEAUTIFY AND GIVE NEW LIFE

BY ALICIA HART

It may be perfectly true that a single cream or a couple of creams are all you absolutely need.

But when you come home dog-tired before a dinner date, wishing you had broken it, and see on your dressing table a few little de luxe bottles with magic beauty within them, don't they just pick you up in incredible manner?

One of the chief attributes of extras in the way of beautifiers is their psychological pick-up. But don't you recognize the fact that you need such pick-ups? Then of course you will recognize that it is not a luxury but same necessity to have a few on hand.

Outstanding among the new creams that grace the counters and would be an asset to any dressing table is a strawberry cream, of the exact shade that strawberries are when you crush them and put cream on them. The very color gives your skin a lift. And that is nothing to what a good creaming with this preparation will do for your skin!

Take a nice, soothing, warm bath and while you are taking it, smear this pretty strawberry cream over your face, neck and ears. And leave it on after you finish drying yourself and lie down for a catnap of perhaps six minutes. Then remove it and look at yourself! For this strawberry cream has not only cleansing properties, it is a tonic and muscle-toning preparation.

Similar to this new strawberry cream, there are many new creams on the market, some for one purpose and some for another. Just to purchase a new cream because somebody talks about it isn't common sense. Read the literature, see just what it is for and make sure it answers your needs.

One skin will need a new luxurious softening cream, a thick silky cream that is like pasteurized cream. It adheres to the skin and nourishes it as it softens. Another skin may need a new bleaching cream that is out that nourishes and yet bleaches, the foundation of it being cucumber.

Perhaps, all in all, there are two dozen brand new facial creams

WE WOMEN

GIRL WHO DOESN'T BELONG TO THE CROWD NEEDS A CHANGE

Dear Miss Vane: What is wrong with me? I'm young and not bad-looking. I am fairly popular with the boys and girls in my town. But I never seem to meet the class of boys I really like. I can't have a good time with those who like me. I'm a good sport, like to read, etc.

Nobody knows that I'm unhappy. But there you are. Just at present I'm considering taking a new position in a distant city. Would this be wise for me to do? Can I make new friends and start over again?—MISS HAPPINESS.

Yes, the new job might be your salvation. There's nothing peculiar about your case. You're just a little bit different from the rest of the crowd, and so you don't fit in with them. But because you're identified with that crowd, you aren't taken up by those you want to meet.

In a new city you can change this. You can make friends with those who really attract you. It will take you some time. But gradually you'll find yourself surrounded with exactly the sort of companions you want.

In the meantime, keep right on improving yourself. Keep on reading and studying. And don't forget to make yourself as attractive as possible, so that if the right sort of friends do come along, they'll be interested in your appearance as well as in your brains.

It's always a pity when the "different" girl has to stay right smack in the town where she was born, for then she becomes the outsider, the freak and nothing more. She finds that she cannot be happy with the boys and girls to greet you this spring. My advice to you is to look them all over and be just as sure they fit your face's needs as you are that your new dresses you buy will fit your figure.

MY NEIGHBOR Says—

To remove paint from the glass of a window is quite a simple matter. A cloth dipped in hot vinegar will do it.

A good floor polish may be made by mixing four ounces of beeswax, a piece of resin the size of a hickory nut, and one quart of turpentine. Rub a little of this on the floor with times. The little ugly duckling had found her feet. She had managed to annex the friends that suited her, instead of trying to suit herself to a crowd which had nothing in common with her.

The visitor was astonished to find that good old Jane had a definite personality of her own, and that she was using it to full advantage with her new acquaintances. Also that her rather obscure charms had developed considerably under the influences of admiration and popularity.

All of which would lead us to suppose that a chance is a very good thing for the girl who never quite clicks with the rest of her crowd. That she is out of step with the parade does not necessarily mean that she's all wrong. There may be another parade into which she fits easily and it's up to her to find it. Good luck to you.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"AQUARIUS"
If February 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

There are no pronounced influences on this date. The day should not be set aside for important family or personal occasions, as it is unpropitious. An uneasy feeling of suspicion and vague fear may overshadow you the later hours of the day.

Children born on this February 11th will have a quiet and an impulsive nature, but will be persistent, determined and not to be thwarted in their aims. They will be sociable and of a good disposition. They will make creditable records at school in most of their subjects, and will take a keen interest in sports. They will be more loyal than affectionate.

The planets were so placed on your birthday (February 11th) as to produce in you a very strong personality. The ideal and practical sides of your nature are well blended, and you have a fairly all-around character. You have the vision, will and energy to originate and the steadiness and practical ability to execute. When you have formed a plan of campaign, you do not rest until you have carried it out, no matter at what expense of time or trouble. You can both plan and perform, preach and practise, direct others, and do the work yourself. Destiny has fitted you to come to the front; to occupy some position of responsibility and trust.

Your magnetic forces are very powerful. Your attractions are very warm, and you make friends readily and are faithful to them. You are particularly attracted, and are attracted to those of the opposite sex. You should have a superabundance of vitality and good recuperative powers in time of sickness.

There is a tendency for you to be too positive, too self-willed, and too dogmatic. From childhood on, you have failed to listen to others, and have insisted upon going "your own way." Your own judgment is good, as a rule, but there are times when it would benefit you to listen to those who speak from experience.

Curtius Says Debt Question Chief Foe Of World Peace

touchstone for the league of nations.

He predicted that "the day is not far distant when a tribunal of judges and historians will come together to pronounce a final verdict based on truth and justice." Meanwhile, he said, the German government will continue its efforts for removal of the stigma of war guilt from the German people.

Curtius expressed satisfaction with the settlement of the Polish differences which came out of the league council and repudiated radical demands for withdrawal from the league of nations.

"As Hans Luther said when he entered in 1926, better inside the outside," he declared, "that's what I say. Criticism of and disappointment with the league are not necessarily equivalent to a necessity for giving up our membership and our fight."

Wales Busy At Study Of Trade Data

S. S. Oropesa—(P)—The Prince of Wales was busy at work today on one of the main phases of his visit to South America, the collection and study of information on the industrial and commercial life of the continent.

Yesterday for more than seven hours he motored through the great oil fields of northern Peru, largely controlled by English and Canadian interests and gained a good insight into the work of this huge industry.

He motored for the best part of 100 miles through an arid, sun scorched country whose only wealth is oil, stopping here and there to ask questions, watch some interesting operation, or learn at first hand how a little band of Britons and Americans lives among the thousands of native laborers toiling to develop the vast resources.

The prince and his brother, Prince George, landed at Cabo Blanco in the morning and with members of their party were whisked by automobile a thousand feet in altitude in less than two miles along a road bristling with hairpin bends out in a beetling mountain side.

At El Alto the prince found a modern settlement with clubs and hospitals in the midst of a country yielding 7,000 barrels of oil daily. The prince watched interestingly the process of cleaning a well and saw hundreds of feet of piping inserted.

Further on drilling operations were in progress and the prince inquired about the machinery. He was surprised to learn that it was of American manufacture and that no British maker specialized in drilling machinery.

The party proceeded by automobile to Paita by way of Lobos and Negritos, where the royal travelers were greeted with the display of British and British flags and with the populace out in full force.

At Paita they again boarded the Oropesa for the trip down the coast to Callao. Once on board the Prince of Wales began a careful study of the information he had acquired.

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Times did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1244-D Marcellus Ave., Mansquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Report Great Demand For Thursday Night's Fight Tickets

SIX CHICAGO BOXERS MEET VALLEY TEAM

Manitowoc, Appleton, New London, Oshkosh, Green Bay Represented

DESPITE the fact that half the boxers showing on the Ony Johnston post amateur car Thursday night at Armory G are unknown to local mitt fans, their opponents, boys from the Fox river valley are so well known and well liked that indications are the legions will have spectators hanging from the girders when the show gets started.

The demand for seats for the coming cards which features the valley boxing team against a team of six Chicagoans, started immediately after announcement that tickets were available and that the Chicago team was coming here. The invading boxers are under direction of Jabber Young, one time favorite in the valley, and a former resident of Menasha, Young now trains boxers at the Belle Plaines "A. C. Chicago" and has entered his team in the annual Golden Gloves tournament sponsored by a Chicago newspaper.

Many out of town fight fans will see the show. The valley boys are from Appleton, Oshkosh, New London, Green Bay, Manitowoc and they are bringing many of their friends along to see what they can do against Windy City talent.

Appleton will be represented by Ray Murphy from over to the Fourth ward; Manitowoc is to be represented by Zep Taurig; New London by Herbert Thompson and Claude Sackett; Oshkosh by Hans Ahl; and Green Bay by Norbert LeFebvre.

All the valley boys except LeFebvre have appeared in the Appleton rings in the last couple months. Hans Ahl has headlined a couple cards here but has not shown for two months. Herbert Thompson, New London, is a great favorite with Appleton crowds and has appeared on practically every card planned by local veterans.

BASEBALL ELITE ARRIVE AT SPRINGS

Moss, Al Simmons, and Sam Rice, Are Among Early Arrivals

Hot Springs, Ark. —(P)— Hot Springs has assumed its annual air of a baseball training camp today with the addition of two more major league players to the colony of ball players here for pre-conditioning.

Ray Moss, star Brooklyn Robins pitcher, and Al Simmons heavy hitting Philadelphia Athletic outfielder, were the two latest arrivals, getting in yesterday.

Moss joined Sam Rice, Washington outfielder, in two rounds of golf today as the major part of their training. Other play golf, climb mountains and take thermal baths to get in condition.

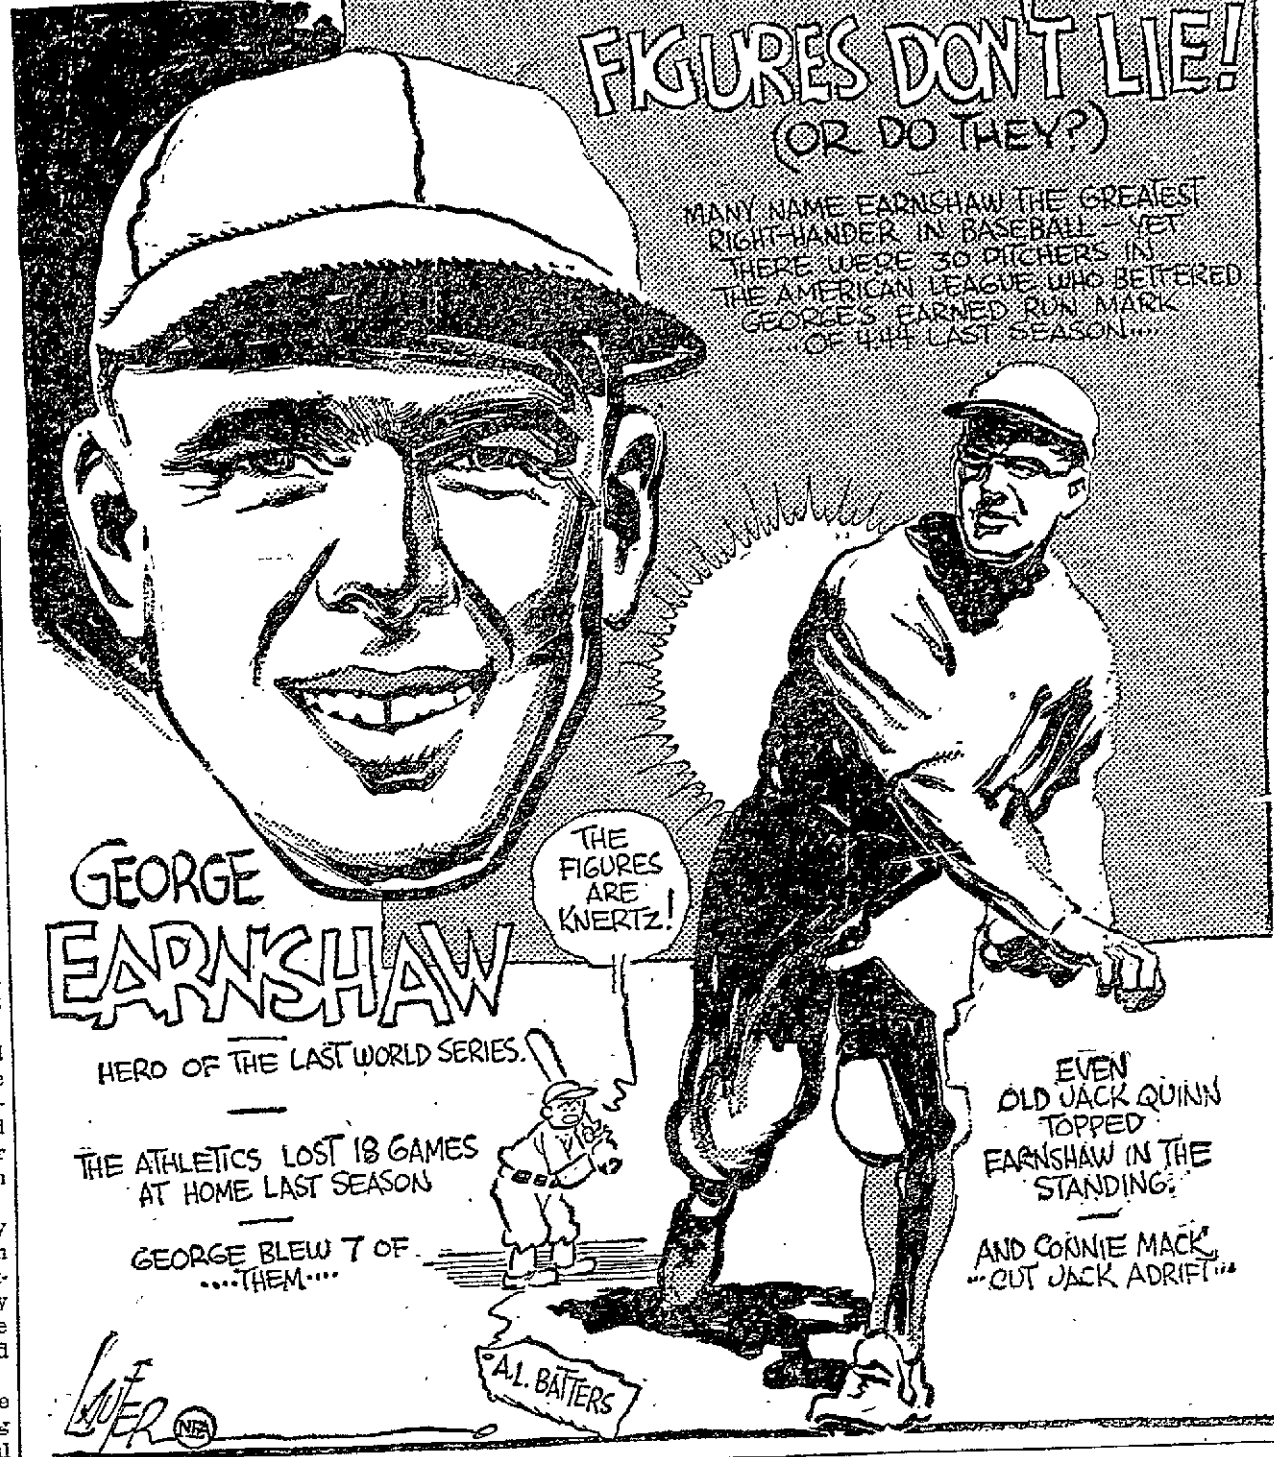

Rice said yesterday he would be joined within the next few days by five of his team mates, headed by Fred Marberry, Senator hurler.

JACK QUINN THERE TOO
Hot Springs, Ark. —(P)— "Old Jack Quinn" isn't old and he has no intention of quitting baseball.

The ex-Philadelphia twirler relieved himself of this observation as he prepared to foot it over the mountains to get in trim for the season. He held no brief for the golf playing ball player.

Quinn is now a free agent, released by the Athletics after six seasons with them, but he says, "I don't make me an old man."

BRUSHING UP SPORTS ... By Laufer

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

JOE SHIELDS of Appleton high school has come to bat with a new suggestion for scoring or giving credit for scoring in basketball.

Shields, it seems has been harking back to the days when he cavorted around second base on certain baseball clubs in the state and gets great pleasure out of the double plays he assisted in. And there was the idea: Why not assists for basketball players?

In recent years as basketball coach Shields has found his teams failing to function probably because some member of the squad rated high or led the valley conference in scoring. The fellow who assisted in the scoring got nothing for his troubles, the scorer getting all the "ink" and praise.

Now Shields would revise basketball scoring to give the chap making the assist a point or something in the scoring column so that he too, might get a little credit.

"This not a half bad idea and Shields is offering it to the sports world gratis in hopes that it might save some future coach a lot of gray hairs when his team works good to get under the stress of a "leading scorer in the league."

The Blue Streaks, local representatives in the valley hockey loop this season and incidentally the championship outfit, is gathering together its equipment preparatory to leaving for Fort Atkinson later in the week to compete in the state amateur hockey tournament, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Last Sunday afternoon the Streaks accomplished the greatest feat in the season's play by holding the strong Wausau team, 1929 champions, to a 3 and 3 score in an over time game. The northern quintet is reputed the strongest in the state and is picked as a contender at the meet.

Holding the Wausau six also has rated the Streaks high in state competition and it would not be out of the ordinary to have the two teams clash for the state title sometime Sunday as the feature event of the meet.

And that accounts for all the enthusiasm on the part of the Appleton puck chasers. The enthusiasm comes in mighty handy for the boys now are chasing up a few dollars to pay expenses. The entire tourney is an amateur affair with each squad paying its own bills. Many Appleton merchants and the chamber of commerce have responded to the plea for a subscription and others soon will be asked for aid.

A basketball game that probably will decide the Fox River Valley championship will be staged at Armory G Friday evening when Appleton and Oshkosh cagers clash. Both teams have been defeated but once this season, the Orange by Oshkosh and Oshkosh by Fond du Lac.

DIANA FISHWICK TAKING LESSONS

Johnny Farrell Teaches English Girl How to Play Florida Courses

St. Augustine, Fla. —(P)— Miss Diana Fishwick, British woman golf champion, is taking some lessons from Johnny Farrell, former national open champion, here prior to her invasion of Florida tournaments.

Already Johnny has shown the English girl a neat trick about playing to the green. As most British golfers do, Miss Fishwick usually plays a pitch and putt shot to the green but that is not so successful in Florida because of the sandy soil.

full pitch with plenty of back spin is the desired way to get on the carpet on golf courses in this state, and in her first game in America, Miss Fishwick picked up this knack nicely.

She and seven or eight other British women stars are here practicing for the opening of the first tournament at Palm Beach next week.

Farrell was pleased with Miss Fishwick's game the first time he saw it, despite that it might appear just a bit unorthodox to the inexperienced. He says he believes she is going to be "hard to beat."

She stands stiffly erect when addressing the ball but the finesse is there as is attested by her scores. She had an 81 in the face of most adverse conditions yesterday.

PRINCETON, HARVARD MAY RESUME RELATIONS

Princeton, N. J. —(P)— Princeton is perfectly willing and ready to renew athletic relations with Harvard in every sport but football, says Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the Princeton board of athletic control.

"The recent spontaneous and definite expressions of undergraduate opinion of Harvard and Princeton favoring resumption of athletic competition leaves no doubt as to their cordial sincerity," Dr. Kennedy says. "But the undergraduate view at Princeton recognizes that there still exist important differences of policy in football which would militate against resumption in that sport at the present time."

Dr. Kennedy added that he would be "glad to discuss" the question of renewing relations in other sports with William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, "at an early date."

ASK ILLINOIS LIFT BAN ON JOSE SANTA

Chicago —(P)— Bert Perry, manager of Jose Santa, huge Portuguese heavyweight, today was in Chicago to ask the Illinois State Athletic association to shorten Santa's suspension which followed an unsportsmanlike bout with Knute Hansen last Wednesday in the Chicago Stadium.

Perry contends that the Portuguese Carnera put forth his best efforts, and that the indefinite suspension imposed by the commission, might not be lifted in time to let the gladiator fight again before immigration laws force him to return to Portugal.

The fight was stopped and declared "no contest" in the second round after Hansen had hit the floor four times, the last time without having been hit.

SIX YANKEES HAVE NOT SIGNED FOR '31

New York —(P)— Ed Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, has abandoned his dignified silence long enough to say that six Yankees have not yet come to terms.

He declined to reveal who they were but by process of elimination newsmen decided upon: Lou Gehrig and Lynn Lar, infielders; Herb Pennock, Lou McDevitt, and Frank Barnett, pitchers; and Fred Walker, outfielder.

The New York Giants, however, still maintain their policy of declining to say who has and who has not signed. The only acknowledged hold-out, is Bill Terry, clouting first baseman.

Autos Banned at Chi Sox Camp

Chicago —(P)— Among the things members of the Chicago White Sox squad will not do during the training season will be driving automobiles.

Manager Donis Bush today placed a ban on automobiles with the comment that he "hunted baseball players all over Texas" last year on jumps from the scene of one exhibition game to another. This year the boys will do their going and coming by rail.

BOXING COMMISSION REVIEWS CONTRACTS

Milwaukee —(P)— The Wisconsin state boxing commission today was called upon to straighten out the managerial difficulties afflicting the boxer, David Maier, Milwaukee.

Maier seeks to have a contract binding him to Manager Charley Metrie declared void. The boxer admits signing two contracts. One empowering Metrie as manager for a year, and the other for four years.

The first contract had run out. The second contract, he says, he considered void. Metrie contradicts the second contract already has been in force sometime.

WILDCATS BEAT GOPHER QUINTET

Purdue Boilermakers Will Show Against Illinois Tonight

Chicago —(P)— Western conference basketball had reached the halfway point today, and Northwestern, co-holder with Michigan of the 1930 football title, was on top, almost beyond reach of the pack.

The Wildcats last night thrust back the challenge of Minnesota whipping the Gophers, 35 to 26, at Evanston. The triumph gave Northwestern six straight victories, and dropped Minnesota from undisputed possession of second place, to a tie with Indiana. Indiana did its part by walloping Iowa 31 to 18, at Bloomington.

Minnesota, the first team to match Northwestern in size, led by four points at halftime, but couldn't stand the pace and dropped back rapidly. Indiana had no trouble with Iowa, winning all the way.

Purdue tonight has a chance to hop from fifth place (third, by defeating Illinois at Champaign tonight). The Boilermakers easily won their first game, and appear capable of giving the victoryless Illinois another beating.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Chicago—Joe Sharkey, Albion, Mich., technically knocked out Everett Kelley, Champaign, Ill., (8); Phil Ross, Chicago, outpointed Patsy Pollock, Winnipeg, (8).

Birmingham, Ala.—Maxie Rosenberg, world light heavyweight champion, and Battling Bozo, Birmingham, drew (10); non-title (newspaper consensus).

New Orleans—Tommy Freeman, world welterweight champion, stopped Al Kober, Fort Worth, Tex., (6), non-title.

Toronto, Ont.—Floyd Hybert, Ohio outpointed Tommy Red Bragan, Toronto (10).

Boston—Sammy Fuller, Boston, stopped Bruce Plovers, New Rochelle, N. Y., (6).

Pittsburgh—Johnny Datto, Cleveland, outpointed Jackie Rodgers, Pittsburgh, (6).

ROBIN SOUTHPAW GOING TO SPRINGS

New York —(P)— The Brooklyn Robins decidedly have the pennant "bug" this year. Bill Clark, one of the most effective southpaws in the National league, is so determined to get into first-class condition that he has followed the example of other local greats and will work out at Hot Springs. Babe Ruth and Al Simmons, among others, have done the same thing in the past.

Paul Keller Injured In Debut; Finishes Fourth

BY HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWARK, N. J. —(P)— The American debut of Paul Keller, French 800 pounder champion, has proved no more of a success than that of his compatriot, Scaphin Martin, world's record holder at the same distance.

Keller, with no previous experience in running indoors or on an unbanked track, finished no better than fourth in a special 1,000 yards event in the Seton Hall college games here last night.

Lacking knowledge of how to handle himself on the track where he was badly jostled and handicapped in addition to an injury to his right foot, the Frenchman never was a contender in the race which Phil Edwinton, won in the last time of 2:17.4. Frank Norrell, New York university freshman, was second and Charlie Thompson of New York, third.

In an early jam the ball on the big toe of Keller's right foot was ripped off and the Frenchman was limping badly at the finish. The injury was painful but not serious and Keller will go through with the balance of his engagements in this country.

The 1,000 yard special was the highlight of the meet but there were several other events of more than ordinary interest. Bill Bruder, Newark A. C. dash man, conquered Leitch Miller of Canada, in all three races of the sprint series: 100, 200 and 400 yards. Bruder won the 100 and 200, but lost the 400 to Edgie Roll, Newark A. C., and average a victory the Newark speedster scored over him last year in the same event.

Gus Moore, of the Brooklyn Harriers, turned in his sixth consecutive triumph of the season in the two mile handicap in which Leo Leonard, Boston A. A. distanced him. The next big track meet of the eastern season will be the Meadowbrook club games at Philadelphia Thursday night. Martin, who finished third in an invitation half mile at the Millrose games here Saturday night, will run in a special 550 yard event.

Keller's next engagement is in the mile and the 1,000 yards of the Boston A. A. games at Boston Saturday night.

WASHINGTON U. FIVE WALLOPED BY WISCONSIN

Russ Rehbolz and Bobby Poser Play Great Ball at Guard Posts

MADISON —(P)— The revamped University of Wisconsin basketball team thrashed the Washington university five from St. Louis with ease here last night, 39 to 9. The Washington team scored only two points in the first half.

Bobby Poser and Russ Rehbolz were sent by Coach Walter Meanywell into the positions formerly occupied by co-captains Ted Chmielewski and Johnny Paul who graduated at mid-semester time. Playing at guard posts, they held the visitors to four field goals.

Collecting 15 points before Buddy Wise caged a rebound shot for Washington, the Badgers made a runaway of the game from the start. Wise's basket was the extent of the loser's scoring in the first half.

Even discounting the advantage of good showing against an evidently weak opponent, the revamped Meanywell team indicated it was likely to work smoothly and effectively against future opponents. Fake passes, quick dribbling and pivots that were baffling were demonstrated a la Meanywell.

SOYBEANS PROVIDE HIGH VALUE HAY FOR LIVESTOCK

Edward O. Mueller and Other Farmers Testify to Value of Crop

BY W. F. WINSEY
Saying that he had only a thin layer of soybeans left on the top of his hay mow and that he wished he had twenty tons more, Edward O. Mueller, Spencer-ri, led the way into his stables to show the writer how eagerly and cleanly his cows cleaned up their morning feed of soy bean hay. Besides being exceedingly palatable, Mr. Mueller found the hay a milk producer equal to alfalfa hay or sweet clover pastures. He finds no reason for cutting the hay with a silage cutter as there is no waste from feeding the soybeans direct from the mow.

Mr. Mueller and C. J. Loev, his next door neighbor, are the first farmers in their section of Outagamie-co to experiment with soybeans on a large scale, and as a result both of them are commending soybeans more vociferously than any one else. Other farmers had scattered a few beans in their rows of corn where the weeds grow thick and of course were unable to decide whether the weeds, the soybeans that survived the weeds and the corn, or the corn that survived the weeds and soybeans was the best part of the feed mixture.

If ripe corn is the desirable kind to use for filling silos, the best plan yet discovered and tried is to check the corn so that weeds that rob the crop of soil feed may not be kept down, and to plant no other crop in the field that might also rob the corn of the feed it needs to grow into a heavy crop of ripe corn early. If soybeans are a desirable protein crop to raise, the seed should be planted where it will not be robbed by other crops or weeds.

Unless all signs of a shortage of alfalfa and clovers next spring fall such the drought last summer and close, late grazing and cutting last fall, scores of farmers will be looking soon for an emergency hay next spring to take the place of their winterkilled clovers and alfalfa.

Mr. Mueller and Mr. Loev can tell farmers suffering such losses how they may plant seed in the spring and raise three tons of soybean hay per acre and how soybean hay compares as a milk producer with the better grades of alfalfa hay.

Mueller and Loev will recommend that other farmers plant soybeans as a nurse crop for sweet clover. They will probably explain that the sweet clover will give the hay crop more weight, that the sweet clover may be pastured in the fall when all other pastures are worn out, and

RESUME SHIPPING

STOCK FROM DALE Activity Discontinued Last Fall Taken Up Again by Association

BY W. F. WINSEY
Dale—The regular shipping of livestock, discontinued last November on account of an invasion of trucks, was resumed Monday forenoon by the reorganized Dale Livestock Shipping association under favorable auspices.

Judging from the number of calves, cows and hogs being unloaded at the stockyards and those on the way, the farmers are not pleased with their experience in truck shipping, have decided to ship by rail themselves, and will fill the first of their own cars to go out this year.

The stockyards at Dale are convenient and well equipped and offer every inducement to farmers to that the following summer the sweet clover may be used for pasture.

do their own shipping. In case any farmer has no way of delivering his livestock to the stockyards, on notice to that effect given to August Bremer, shipping manager, a truck will be sent to haul the animals to the local stockyards at a cost to the owner of 10 cents per hundred pounds.

Monday, Feb. 23, is announced by the board of directors as the next shipping day, and all farmers are requested to list their animals to be shipped, one or two days in advance of that day with the shipping manager so that adequate shipping facilities may be provided by him in time.

David Zehner was on hand at the stockyards early Monday morning where he took up his new duties as secretary of the shipping association.

If backed up by the Wisconsin Markets and the federal farm board, as they are the farmers old Dale decide to do team work in the marketing operations, they will soon be shipping at least two carloads of livestock each week, and getting all there is in the market for their animals in weight and price.

FOUR BADGERS WILL RECEIVE PENSION AID

Bill Provides New or Increased Payments to Wisconsin People

BY RUBY A. BLACK

Washington—Four Wisconsin persons, including a veteran of the Spanish War, the mother of another veteran of that war, the widow of a sailor, and the widow of a soldier disabled during an army baseball game, will receive pensions or increases in pension when the senate passes and the president signs an omnibus pension bill already passed by the House of Representatives.

This bill contains pensions and increases in pensions for soldiers and sailors of the regular Army and Navy who served either in peace or in war, and it includes veterans of Indian Wars, the Spanish War, and the Marine fighting in Nicaragua.

The Wisconsin beneficiaries are: Andrew A. Menne of National Soldiers' Home at Milwaukee, 64 years old, who served in Company F, Third Regiment United States Infantry both in peace time and during the war.

His pension bill already passed by the House of Representatives on April 1900 but deserted in August of that year, and was dishonorably discharged on March 10, 1901.

The hearing of one ear is entirely destroyed but the veteran is not eligible for pension since he cannot establish the fact that an injury during his service caused his deafness. He will get $10 a month.

Help Madison Woman

Mrs. Lois Blais of the Madison, dependent mother of First Lieutenant John Blais, who served during the war with Spain in Company A, First Battalion, Ohio Light Artillery.

Lieutenant Blais died in 1908, but his mother's claim for pension was denied because there was no proof that his death, nine years after the war, was due to his military service. Mrs. Blais is 87 years old, an invalid with very poor sight and suffers from neuritis and neuralgia. She has no income. She will receive $20 a month.

Mrs. Mina E. Mehler of Oconto, 35 years old, is the widow of Henry A. Mehler, who served in the United States Navy from Feb. 4, 1914 to August 9, 1918. Mrs. Mehler now receives $12 a month and $2 per month additional for two minor children, since she has proved that her husband's death was due to his naval service.

The State of Wisconsin is paying her a temporary State pension of $25 a month from the State Charity Aid, pending the increase in her federal pension. Mrs. Mehler is almost an invalid and unable to do heavy work. She will get an increase in pension to $20 a month and $2 additional for the minor children under 16 years of age.

Mrs. Annie Williams of Dodgeville, widow of Owen Williams, who served in Company C, First Regiment United States Infantry from 1882 to 1884, when he was honorably discharged for disability brought about by catching a broken bottle thrown at him during a ball game, which was part of the "service's necessary exercise and recreation."

Mrs. Williams is 64 years old and practically an invalid. She will get $2 a month.

ANY VETERANS GET GOVERNMENT LOANS

Generous Use Made of Borrowing Plan Under Adjusted Compensation Acts

Appleton and Outagamie-co world war veterans holding adjusted compensation certificates, have made generous use of them for securing loans and extra money, according to county legion officers. There are more than 1,200 veterans in the county and claims for compensation under veterans' acts or for loans on certificates involve almost every man in the county.

During the last year with veterans pinched for money, many have secured loans on their certificates. Others have been securing loans annually as loan money accumulated just to spend it, and still others annually draw money so they may not feel the full brunt of the winter's coal bill or taxes.

Veterans' claims under old bills passed by congress are very few, according to the county service officer, most claims being under the pension bill passed within the last year. Under this bill veterans may secure amounts ranging from $12 to $30 a month if they can show partial or full permanent disability.

All claims for compensation or loans are not handled by the county service office, some being sent directly to regional bureaus and others being handled by congressmen.

Using six seed harvesters and two combines farmers of Jackson county, Ala., will save 5,000 bushels of soy bean seed and 2,000 bushels of lespedeza seed during the year.

REVENUE PAYMENTS ON TOBACCO LOWER

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—Wisconsin's internal revenue payments on tobacco manufactures were somewhat lower in 1930 than in 1929, according to statistics furnished by the Internal Revenue bureau.

In 1930, Wisconsin paid a total of $185,461.69 as taxes on various tobacco manufactures compared with $245,734.32 in 1929. Of the 1930 total, $170,751.49 was for cigar tax as against $167,111.63 in 1929; $12.08 was for cigarette tax as against $42.11 in 1929; and $34,698.12 was for tax on manufactured tobacco and snuff as against $78,531.19 in 1929.

For the country as a whole, cigar and manufactured tobacco and snuff taxes decreased while cigarette taxes increased by more than one million dollars.

Pastor Lists Causes For Rebel Spirit

Chicago — (P) — Dr. Joseph A. Vance, Detroit, Mich., president of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, said the "ill-represented, financial slavery, militarism and war," were to blame "for the world's unrest and revolution," in a speech before the Presbyterian Conference on Spiritual Emphasis Monday.

"What is the matter with our twentieth century world?" he asked. "Race prejudice, unequal distribution of wealth, refusal of nations to find peaceful methods to settle international disputes; rebellion of poverty-stricken nations to accept financial slavery that another nation may live in luxury; the suspicion and distrust of militarism—these are the causes of the rebel spirit today, was because this generation has produced men who are equipped with only a faulty knowledge of what Christianity really is.

Dr. Vance declared man will never succeed, nor contribute good to the world, until he learns to regard God as a personal influence.

Fighting present problems with weapons of the past was the method Dr. Norman L. Richardson of Chicago, recommended to delegates in a speech prepared for delivery.

"The church," he said, "is not inexperienced at meeting crises. Adequate spiritual resources are within the reach of the church today provided that those who constitute this fellowship will pay the price of acquiring the needed information, and adopt action programs that can be brought into undelayed use."

Dr. Richardson declared that one of the reasons for the existence of a

Every new industry opens a path to the fortunate man who realizes its possibilities. Since installation of Stokers has not universal the industry has progressed rapidly so that no viable aquatic business can be added to improve the importance of the fishery.

An opportunity is available for a dependable man or firm to control the exclusive distribution in Outagamie County of the World's Greatest Stoker.

No investment is required and it is not necessary to carry a stock on hand after the first installation is made.

FIRST UPWARD TREND SEEN IN STOCK PRICES

Increase of 1,300 Issues Last Month Is Over $3,000,000,000

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York.—(AP)—The results in market values of the recovery in stocks last month are shown in the New York stock exchange figures, which indicate the first decided upward trend in January since the boom of last spring. The actual increase in the value of over 1,300 stock issues last month was in excess of $3,000,000,000.

As the most critical period of the stock market since the fall of 1929 was that of the last six months, it is interesting to compare the average price of the more important groups of stocks as they stood on Feb. 1 and on Aug. 1. This includes, of course, the improvement that occurred during January. The figures suggest the long road that the market has to travel until it gets back even to the basis of last summer.

In the six months the average price of the shares of automobile and accessory companies has declined from $13.4 to $10.5, that of chemical companies from $15.75 to $12.5, of electrical equipment companies from $17.75 to $14.32, food companies from $16.75 to $14.75, farm machine companies from $19.47 to $14.75 and issues of amusement concerns from $10.02 to $8.44.

Other groups showing radical changes are those of machinery metals shares from $15.58 to $11.58, mining shares, excluding iron, from $29.71 to $24.38, petroleum from $25.50 to $25.09 and retail merchandising from $10.36 to $8.52.

Rail Shares Down
In the transportation industry and public utilities there have been marked downward movements. Railroad and equipment shares have dropped from $10.03 to $8.52, communication shares from $15.75 to $11.93 and operating gas and electric company stocks from $16.62 to $13.88. The general market average was off from $10.84 on Aug. 1 to $10.09 on Feb. 1.

Taking the declines by percentages, it is found that the largest shrinkage in the past six months has been in the stocks of the petroleum companies. Their average price is off 35 per cent. This covers the period during which many dividends have been reduced or passed by refining and producing companies. Next in reflecting the intensity of the reaction are the railroad stocks, whose average price is down 25 per cent in spite of the fact that they have had an average rise since the middle of December of about 16 points.

Communication stocks, which include telephone and telegraph, cable and radio company securities, show a decrease of 19 per cent. Chemicals are off 22 per cent, iron and steel stocks have lost an average of 11 per cent and tobacco

JUST ANOTHER BUST, BUT ITS MADE FROM OLD U. S. GREENBACKS

An insignificant little bust of Abraham Lincoln, which appears to be cut from a solid rock, stands in the office of government engineers on S. Oneida-st covered with the dust of many years. To the casual passerby it is just another statuette, but to the engineers it is quite significant, inasmuch as the material it is made of once represented $5,000. The little bust is made of United States "greenbacks," redeemed and macerated at the treasury department in Washington, D. C. in 1900.

TWINS ARE BORN TO WOMAN SERVING LIFE PRISON TERM

London.—(AP)—A mother of four children, who was sentenced to hang for having murdered the fourth baby, has given birth to twins in the hospital of Holloway prison.

Widespread appeals that clemency be granted led John E. Clynes, home secretary, recently to commute the woman's sentence to life imprisonment, but he would not listen to pleas that she be allowed to undergo confinement outside prison so that the child would be born without the stigma of prison birth.

The woman is Mrs. Olive Catherine Wise, who once was married and bore three children legitimately to her husband. They were separated and she bore a fourth child to another man.

He deserted her and she attempted desperately to feed the four hungry mouths. She even chopped wood and hawked it through the streets but finally gave up the struggle, placed the baby in an oven and turned on the gas.

British law takes no cognizance of exceptional circumstances or temporary insanity in murder cases, and she was condemned to hang. A storm of public indignation followed and her sentence was commuted.

It is expected that birth of the twins, which occurred Friday, will call her case to the public attention.

COUNTY OFFICIALS RETURN FROM MADISON

Gus Sell, county agent, returned Saturday from Madison. He spent last week at the annual farm home week sponsored by the state college of agriculture and the state department of agriculture. Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, returned Monday from Madison. She also attended the farm program.

Stocks 15 per cent. Mining stocks, which include the copper mainly, are 43 per cent lower than on Aug. 1, although they were among the earliest last year to be liquidated and to readjust their prices to the fall in metal and to the wholesale cuts in dividends. The smallest decrease in any one group is that of 63 per cent in food stocks.

Lincoln Admirers Resent Charge He Was "Unkempt"

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Admirers of the life of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, where the body of the emancipator lies at rest—arose to protest Edgar Lee Master's biography of Lincoln in which he described him as "grotesquely dressed and unkempt."

Among them was Dr. John T. Thomas, pastor of the First Presbyterian church—the same church Lincoln attended for years with his wife and family.

"Defaming our great men," he said in his Sunday night sermon "seems to be a sort of obsession of recent years. None is exempt. Nothing is easier. None has lived or will live to whom one might not take exceptions and in whom one might not find faults or flaws. There is something of the ordinary in all of our great. They have much in common with the rest of us."

"I have no doubt that Mr. Lincoln sought office and sought it shrewdly. But I do doubt that he sought above all else his own advancement or preferment."

From the custodian of Lincoln's tomb, H. W. Fay came this remark:

"I have three hundred pictures
